Edward Ashley, of Molescroft, acts as clerk at the special sessions; but at the petty sessions the magistrates have no clerk.	High constable for the division of Dickering, the emoluments of which office are uncertain in the amount.	The amount of fees received is very inconsiderable; but as the magistrates do not keep an account of the sums thus received, no accurate statement as to the amount can be given; much of that amount is disbursed in providing the new Acts of Parliament and various printed papers, &c. The surplus is generally applied to charitable purposes.					. .

Wm. Robinson Gilby, Esq. Robert Wylie, Esq. David Burton, Esq.	Ditto.	The New Sessions-house, Beverley.	Thos. Shepherd, attorney, Beverley; appointed in February 1834, before which time the magistrates had no regular clerk.	. .	Previous to 1834 the magistrates received and divided the fees amongst them, and no accounts were kept of the amount, or of the amount of disbursements. In the year 1834 the clerk, who in that year received the fees arising from the licensing of alehouses, had a net sum of £33. 17*s*. 6*d*.; but he cannot give the particulars or amount of disbursements. In 1835 the clerk received only a small portion of the licensing-fees, and had a net sum of £16. 14*s*. 6*d*.; but cannot give particulars or amount of disbursements. Some of the magistrates grant their own summonses, and in some cases adjudicate without the clerk, who does not, under those circumstances, receive the fees; they are very trifling in amount, and no account is kept of them. The disbursements are principally for printing and stationery.					Appropriated for the private purposes of the party receiving them.

It is believed that no fees are ever received out of petty sessions; when exacted, they are paid at the sessions.	No account can be given.	. .	. . The remainder is distributed in charity, being given to particular objects of distress, or to some of the public charities of the Riding; frequently to the Infirmary at Hull, whenever the amount of funds allows such an appropriation.

Note.—In making up this Summary the following Rules have been observed. Whenever the Net Amount only of Fees has been returned a quarter has been added to form the Gross Amount. Whenever the Gross Amount only has been returned, one-fifth has been subtracted to form the Net Amount. Whenever the Amount of Fees returned has been stated as averaging between two sums, half of the difference has been added to the lesser sum. In the few instances where the amount returned has been stated as under or above a given sum that sum has been inserted without addition or deduction.

* These Fees, for the most part, are stated to be received by the Clerks to Magistrates; but in some few instances, by the Magistrates themselves: not however exceeding, as to the latter, more than about £100 per annum on the whole.

Highland Roads and Bridges.

TO THE HONOURABLE THE KNIGHTS, CITIZENS AND BURGESSES IN PARLIAMENT ASSEMBLED.

THE

COMMISSIONERS

Appointed for the purposes of an Act passed in the 59th year of the reign of his late Majesty King George the Third, intituled, " An ACT to repeal two Acts, made in the fifty-fourth and fifty-fifth years of His present Majesty, for maintaining and keeping in REPAIR certain Roads and Bridges in Scotland; to provide more effectually for that purpose, and for Regulation of Ferries in Scotland."

THE conveyance of the Mail by coach along the Highland Road from Perth to Inverness, an object for the attainment of which repeated representations have been made by the Northern Counties, was established in the month of July 1836. The adoption of this arrangement, by which 20 hours in the course of the Northern Post are saved, has been principally owing to the recent improvements executed by the Commissioners at the Pass of Slochmuicht, which has heretofore presented the most serious obstacle on the Line. The obstruction experienced by the Mail from snow in the past winter has been immaterial, compared with that sustained in the far more populous Southern and Western districts of Great Britain, and was in fact little beyond what (it may be fairly anticipated) will be removed by the experience of two or three seasons.

The Commissioners cannot but feel encouraged by this result, as productive of a most important benefit to the country, and confirmatory of the correctness of the views with which a survey of the Highland Line, and the adjacent district, was last year directed. This survey has now been completed under the inspection of Mr. Joseph Mitchell; and the Maps, Plans and Sections, drawn out with great minuteness, are in the possession of the Commissioners. With the view of adding to the stock of public information on the subject, the Report of Mr. Mitchell has been annexed in the Appendix; but the total want of funds to carry any part of his recommendations into effect, renders it at present unnecessary for the Commissioners to express any opinion as to the adoption of his views.

In the County of Inverness a stone Bridge of three arches, over the river Oich at Aberchalder, was satisfactorily completed by Mr. John Gordon in November last, although circumstances of some difficulty attended the laying the foundation. The contract price was 1,108*l*., of which 1,050*l*. has been paid.

The improvement of Torlundy, mentioned in the last Report, comprising an alteration extending about 2,000 yards, was finished in the course of the summer, and the new Line has been some months in use.

The Corran Ferry Piers have been still further improved by an additional Slip, greatly facilitating the access at low water of spring tides.

The North Boleskine Road, between Inverness and Dores, has been widened, and its surface strengthened, and a Footpath carried to the Bridge of Aultnaskiach, protected by a substantial fence.

In the present year the Commissioners will have to provide in this County for several cases of extraordinary expenditure. In the spring of 1836 the Bridge over the river Arkeg, on the Lochyside Road, fell, thus cutting off the communication with the grazing districts to the north of L. Arkeg. It had been for some years in an insecure state in consequence of injury sustained by the floods of L. Lochy, the level of which was raised for the purposes of the Caledonian Canal. The Commissioners have thought it advisable to construct a new Bridge of timber, which has been offered on liberal terms by Lochiel, the neighbouring Proprietor; and a contract for building a circular trussed arch of 70 feet span has been entered into at the sum of 594*l*.

A forty foot stone arch at Three Mile Water, on the Fort William Road (one of the Military Lines formed by General Wade), also fell in the course of last summer; a contract for replacing which has been made at the sum of 410*l*., the amount of the lowest offer.

To these casualties must be added the fall of an arch of 40 feet span at Glen Finnan, on the Loch-na-Gaul Road, at the boundary of the Counties of Argyll and Inverness, for the rebuilding of which measures are taking.

In the County of Ross the alteration of the Invergordon Road at Pollo has been completed; the Bridges at the villages of Maryburgh and Conan, on the Dingwall Road, have been widened. Milestones have been erected along the principal Roads. No material damage has been sustained during the last winter on any of the Ross-shire Lines, which are reported to the Commissioners as in perfect repair, and as being in a gradual course of strengthening where the increasing traffic requires it.

In the several other Counties the operations of the Commissioners have been almost exclusively confined to the ordinary repairs, which have been carried on regularly in conformity with the specifications and the rules laid down, and the result of which the Commissioners have reason to imagine to be satisfactory to the heritors and the public.

By Order of the Commissioners,

SAMUEL SMITH,
Secretary.

Appendix, No. 1.

Office of Highland Roads and Bridges,
Sir, Inverness, 1 March 1837.

I now beg leave to transmit to you the Plans and Sections of the Great Highland Road from Inverness to Dunkeld, with corresponding Estimates, which I trust will be found sufficiently distinct to enable the Commissioners to form a correct opinion of the present state of the Line, as well as of the advantages to be derived from the execution of the improvements contemplated.

It will be noticed, by glancing at the Map, that the direction of the present Road is tortuous, forming between the two points of Inverness and Dunkeld a figure nearly resembling the letter S reversed. My first object was, therefore, to ascertain if any shorter direction could be obtained at a moderate elevation.

A few years ago I was directed by the late Mr. Telford to survey the country between Inverness and Pitmain, with a view of cutting off the northern elbow of the present Road; but as there were no less than five mountain ridges to cross, and two of them of very considerable elevation, the advantage to be derived from the actual saving of distance (13 miles) was found to be more than counterbalanced by the long and steep inclinations, which from the nature of the country it was impossible to avoid. On this occasion the whole of the country north of Pitmain was carefully explored, and the result of the Survey was such as to satisfy the Commissioners that no extensive deviation from the present Line by the Bridge of Carr and Aviemore could be adopted with advantage, and they were, therefore, the more able to give directions that the alteration of the Road through the dangerous Pass of Slochmuicht (now completed) should be proceeded with.

For many years past I have occasionally explored the country between Aviemore and Dunkeld, with the prospect of shortening the southern portion of the Highland Road. This seemed much more practicable than that to the northward alluded to above, inasmuch as there was only one ridge of the Grampians to cross, and several directions presented themselves which appeared to offer facilities for the construction of a Road. One Line minutely examined, extended from near Aviemore through Glenfeshie, and from thence across a moor by the Forester of Braemar's Cottage to Glenloch, from which it passed by the head of Strath Airdle, and by Tullimet to the present Turnpike Road at Dowally, about five miles north of Dunkeld. The saving by this Line, however, was found not to be greater than by some of the others that were examined, and the length of new road-making, together with the great extent of rugged barren country to be passed through, induced me to abandon it, although a Road could be formed along the whole distance with comparatively easy inclinations.

Another route examined was to leave the Line above described at the head of Glenfeshie, and, taking a more westerly direction, pass into Glentilt, and thence along that valley to Blair Atholl. The saving by this Line was found not to be so great as by the former, and as a ridge of greater height had to be passed, it was likewise abandoned.

The next Line explored and measured struck off from that first described about half way up Glenfeshie, and passed through various smaller glens till it gained the mountain pass from Badenoch to Blair, near the top of the hill of Minigaig; thence this Line proceeded to Glenbruar, and down by this valley to Blair Atholl.

The elevation which it was necessary to pass in the last direction, as well as the steepness of some parts of it, induced me to turn my attention to the fourth Line explored, which leaves the present Highland Road at Loch Inch in Badenoch, and passes by Invereshie to Glentromie and Gaick Lodge; thence ascending by a gradual inclined plane through a narrow pass called Garrow-Gaick, it crosses the ridge of the Grampians, and passes into Glenbruar. The Line descends along the sides of this valley to the Falls of Bruar, from which it proceeds along the face of the hill behind the manse of Blair, and joins the present Road at the north end of Blair Park, and about a mile and a half north of Blair Inn.

After repeated excursions along the different Lines, and measurements taken to ascertain their comparative lengths, the last-named Line was determined on as the best, inasmuch as it involved the least extent of new road-making, while there was but one ridge to cross, and the saving in distance was very considerable; I therefore caused a complete survey to be made of it, so as to ascertain the elevation of the highest point above the level of the sea, the inclinations at which the Road could be made, and the expense of completing it.

The direction of the proposed new Road will be seen by the red line on the Map forwarded to the Commissioners, accompanying which there is a distinct longitudinal Section. From this latter it will be noticed, that with one or two exceptions, the gradients may be made to run at the rate of about one foot in thirty. The extreme height above the level of he sea is 2,238 feet, and the saving in distance is 10 miles 778 yards; the present Road, measuring between the two points, 42 miles 1,265 yards; and the proposed Line 32 miles 487 yards. The expense of completing the whole work is estimated at 34,507 l. 2 s. 5 d., being at the rate of 1,069 l. per mile.

The sum now stated may be considered high, but many parts of the country through which the new Line would pass are very rugged and rocky and steep in the cross section, while there are other extensive portions passing over barren moors and deep moss, to which it will be very difficult and expensive to transport materials for metalling the surface. There are, besides, 24 Bridges required, some of great height and others of considerable span, with an expensive one of six arches (viz. four of 60 feet, and two of 50 feet span) across the River Spey at Loch Inch.

Many persons speculate, that in consequence of the great height above the sea, at which the proposed Line must pass the ridge which divides Badenoch from Atholl, the Road must be completely blocked up for a considerable portion of the year by snow. No doubt the storms will be much greater at this elevation than on the summit of the present Road at Drumochter, which is 763 feet lower; but if the Road is properly constructed, with a view to meet such an inconvenience, I do not anticipate that travelling will be more impeded by snow than at present. The construction of the old Military Road is in many places very defective in this respect, being in fact excavated from the general surface of the ground in the manner of a ditch, which necessarily forms a receptacle for snow; whereas, if the new Road was formed above the general surface of the ground, the wind, which invariably accompanies snow at such altitudes, would rather have a tendency to clear the road-way than otherwise. If the Road were well constructed in this manner, therefore, I am of opinion that no very serious impediment would take place; and it is only in the case of a severe drift or thick mist, which occasionally will occur, that some temporary detention is to be apprehended. This is no doubt to be expected in severe winters; but even on the supposition that it might be shut up for several weeks in some instances, there is at all events but little travelling at that season of the year, and in such an emergency the Drumochter Road, if left open, might still be taken. It therefore becomes a matter for consideration, whether the saving of 10¼ miles of distance, on an extent of 43 miles, is not such as to warrant the expenditure of the sum already stated on the principal communication or inlet to the North of Scotland, even if the Road could only be used for nine or ten months in the year, the remaining two or three months being the season of least travelling.

In the event of the Board conceiving the outlay of such a sum too great for the advantage to be gained, I caused to be made a minute survey of the present Highland Road, showing the alterations required to render the whole Line from Inverness to Dunkeld perfect as the nature of the country will admit of.

The inclinations of the present Road from Inverness to Moy, a distance of about ten miles, are generally steep, and the line should be altered for the whole distance. Two ridges have to be crossed; the first between the Moray Frith and the River Nairn, and the other south of that river to Moy. The present Road, after preserving nearly a level for about a mile and a half, ascends the first ridge at gradients varying from 1 in 11¾ to 1 in 16 and 20, for an extent of two miles; by the proposed line the inclinations will be from 1 in 30 to 1 in 35. In descending to the River Nairn, the inclinations will be improved from 1 in 15 to 23, as by the present Road to 1 in 26 to 40. After crossing the River Nairn, the present Road ascends for about a mile at inclinations from 1 in 10 to 1 in 12, which is severely felt by heavy carriages; by the proposed Line the inclinations will run from 1 in 30 to 1 in 40, with the exception of a short distance, which rises at the rate of 1 in 22. The expense of completing this improvement I estimate at 8,405 l. 14 s. 9 d., or about 763 l. per mile; but as the proposed alteration would cross and re-cross the present Road, it may be carried into effect at three different periods, without interruption to travelling. The estimate of the first portion next to Inverness is 2,573 l.; that extending to the Bridge of Nairn, 1,555 l.; and the third division from Nairn Bridge to near Moy, 4,097 l.

The next alteration of any consequence extends from the south end of the improvement lately completed through Slochmuicht to the Bridge of Carr. The present Road, though not dangerously steep, is nevertheless hilly, and particularly so for about a mile north of Carr Bridge, where it rises at from 1 in 16 to 1 in 20. There is likewise a very dangerous turn at the Bridge of Carr, the inclination of which is 1 in 11 for a short distance. By the proposed line the gradients will be from 1 in 32 to 1 in 50 and 60, and the expense is estimated at about 1,983 l.

The alteration next to be noticed is that extending from Culbeachy, half way between Carr Bridge and Aviemore, to Grainish, about two miles from the latter Inn, and measures about two miles and a half. The present Road along this distance is perhaps the worst portion of the whole Line. It is exceedingly narrow, (from 10 to 12 feet,) and has been formed upon the natural surface of the ground, consisting of a succession of hillocks, with inclinations in many places of 1 in 9, 11, 12, &c. The proposed Line would run nearly level, and would cost 1,420 l. The present Road is so dangerous at this place, that, in my humble opinion, the improvement now described is the first that should be carried into effect.

From Aviemore to the boundary of the County of Perth there are various deviations proposed, as will be seen by the Map and longitudinal Section, almost all of which require equal attention. In particular, however, I may mention that proposed at Kinchyle, about three miles westward of Aviemore, by which a very steep hill will be avoided, and which will cost 370 l.; that at Pitmain Inn, where there are at present two steep ascents, and where the new Road would run almost level through the garden of the Inn; the expense of this will be about 178 l.; and that at Aultlarie, where there are at present several very abrupt turns and a steep ascent, the proposed Line would be straight and almost level, and the expense, including a Bridge, is estimated at 758 l. But there is no improvement more necessary than that of the Bridge south of Dalwhinnie, where the Road is not only steep, but bends awkwardly at nearly right angles, which, with the narrowness of the Bridge itself, renders this this portion exceedingly inconvenient and dangerous. The expense of altering the Road and building a new Bridge will be 871 l. There are likewise two other improvements much required beyond this last, chiefly to avoid the stoppages at present experienced from snow. The expense of the first will be 398 l., and the other, near the County March, I estimate at 403 l.

Although not particularly enumerated, there are various other improvements proposed on the Inverness-shire portion of the Road, which are shown on the Map and Section, and included in the general estimate. These consist chiefly of reducing hills, cutting off sudden bends, improving and widening Bridges, and also increasing the width of the Road itself in all places where necessary, so that the carriage-way shall nowhere be less than 20 feet in the clear along the whole Line. The total expense of completing the improvements contemplated in Inverness-shire is estimated at 21,930 l. 0 s. 7 d.

It will be observed by the longitudinal Section, that the Road from Dalnaspidall to near Dalnacardoch Inn is very uneven and hilly, besides being so narrow that it is not without difficulty two carriages can pass one another. There are two ascents that are particularly steep, the one rising for some distance, as 1 in 13, 15 and 16; the other for a still greater length, as 1 in 11½, 12, 15 and 16. There are also along this portion of the Road several very dangerous Bridges, particularly that of Altnastalker, of 27 feet span, which is only 10 feet in width between the parapets. This Bridge is placed in a hollow, the approaches descending on each side for upwards of 100 yards in length, at inclinations of 1 in 14 and 15; and when a heavy coach is passing in either direction, the horses require to be set off at full speed down the hill to the Bridge, so as to enable them to ascend on the opposite side; and no ordinary dexterity is required to drive a carriage along the narrow road-way of the Bridge at so quick a rate. To add to the difficulty likewise, there is a rather sharp turn at one end of the Bridge; and since the mail-coach has been established, as it passes northwards on all occasions during the night, the parapet walls have at different times been injured and partially thrown down. The whole of these inconveniences may be avoided, and the Road carried in a new direction, so as to afford gradients varying from 1 in 50 to 1 in 150. This improvement would render the Line from the County March to Dalnacardoch very perfect, and might be executed, if thought advisable, at five different periods. The expense of the first or most necessary portion, will be 654 l.; of the second, 738 l.; of the third, 131 l.; of the fourth, 338 l.; and of the last, 320 l.; making an outlay in all of 2,183 l.

Along the remainder of the Line, through the Valley of Atholl to Dunkeld, there are various other alterations contemplated, as may be seen by the Map and Section, but none of very great magnitude. The most necessary is that in the Pass of Killiecrankie, where the present Road is very steep, and where the proposed Line can be carried almost level, at an expense of about 941 l. The next in importance is that marked No. 17 on the Section, by which a very steep hill will be cut off; the expense of this alteration being about 397 l. There is a very dangerous place likewise at the King's Pass, above Dunkeld, where the present Road not only descends at an inclination of 1 in 14, but has a sharp turn about half way down the hill; and various accidents have occurred here, by coaches upsetting and otherwise. The proposed alteration, marked No. 20, would make the road-way comparatively easy, viz. 1 in 27½, while the sudden turns would be removed; and the cost of executing the work is estimated at 365 l. 15 s.

Besides those above described in Perthshire, there are several minor improvements calculated on, such as the widening of Bridges and cutting off quick angles, particularly at the ends of Bridges. These dangerous places may be made safe at from 100 l. to 200 l. each; that most requiring attention, namely at Aultgeltie Bridge, near Dalnacardoch, may be done for about 102 l.

Should the Commissioners determine on adhering to the general direction of the present Line, in preference to adopting the proposed alteration by Gaick, the improvements above detailed will render the Great Highland Road, from Inverness to Dunkeld, in point of inclination and safety, the most perfect in the North of Scotland; and from the mode in which it is contemplated to construct these improvements, there will be very little risk of detention during the winter by snow. In either event these surveys are drawn out with such detail and minuteness, that whether the works shall be carried on at once, or gradually in a series of years, the Maps and Sections will be equally available. Besides the General Map, Longitudinal Section and Estimate, I have provided cross sections, showing the mode of constructing the Road at different places; and there are likewise distinct and complete Plans and Elevations of all the Bridges which it is necessary to build in carrying into execution the different alterations.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient Servant,

Joseph Mitchell.

Samuel Smith, Esq., London.

Appendix, No. 1.

Appendix, No. 1.

Mr. Macneill's Report.

REPORT OF MR. JOHN MACNEILL.

IN obedience to the commands of the Commissioners of His Majesty's Woods and Forests, I have made a minute inspection of the part of the Holyhead Road between London and Shrewsbury, and have drawn up the following Report.

THE HOLLOWAY ROAD,

The Holloway Road.

FROM the Angel at Islington to the Highgate Archway Road, is in a much better state than it was a few years ago: the constant repairing with granite has rendered it hard and smooth; little or no improvement has taken place in the sides or wastes during the last year. A piece of new road has been formed at the junction of the back Road with the old Road, through Islington, by which the sharp turn near the Toll-bar has been avoided.

KENTISH TOWN ROAD,

Kentish Town Road.

FROM Park-street to the Junction Road, has been improved by a better description of stone than formerly used. The channels are not attended to; but some improvement has been made in the footpaths.

HIGHGATE ARCHWAY ROAD.

Highgate Archway Road.

THIS Road is not in so good a state as last year; the surface between the Toll-bar and the Arch is in some places very much worn down, and also on the ascent to the Woodman. The channels are not so well attended to as formerly, and the footways are getting out of shape. The cement foundation is in a perfect state; but unless more stone is applied in the proper season, it may be injured, as it has not at present a covering of more than two inches in some places.

The Directors have lately appointed a proper person to take charge of the Road; and although he is very attentive to the work, it is impossible for him to keep the Road in the state it should be without more assistance.

BARNET ROAD.

Barnet Road.

FROM the termination of the Archway Road to the turn of the road leading to Colney Hatch, the surface of the carriage-way is in excellent condition, being repaired with Guernsey granite, of which there is a large quantity prepared, and laying on the waste for the next year's repair. The sides and channels are not properly formed; the carriage-way is not defined, and there are no sod borders, or curbing to the footpath or edge of the waste. From the Road leading to Colney Hatch to Whetstone, the Road is repaired with gravel; and though constantly raked over and scraped, the surface is very heavy, the channels are not well formed, nor is the carriage-way properly defined.

From Whetstone to the top of Prickler's Hill has been repaired with granite, and the surface is now in excellent order; but the sides and channels are defective, and the carriage-way not properly defined.

Between Prickler's Hill and the bottom of the ascent into Barnet is prepared with gravel, but it appears to be of a better description than that used through Finchley.

The surface of the hill into Barnet has been lately repaired with granite on one side, and is much improved. A trackway of granite should be laid on the side of this Road for the wheels of carriages to run upon, similar to that which is now contracted for over the Road between Foster's Booth and Weedon. The expense of this work would not be considerable, and it would enable one horse to do the work of three. The embankment does not appear to be yet consolidated, as there is now a symptom of a slip on the east side: on the whole, this trust is much improved; and if a little attention was paid to the sides and formation of the footpath and wastes, it would be equal to any division of the Road between London and Dunchurch.

BARNET.

Barnet.

THROUGH the town the Roadway is in very bad condition; the surface is covered with mud 2 or 3 inches thick; it does not appear to have been scraped for months; the channels and sides are very imperfect, and seem totally neglected; this portion of the Road is under the management of the parish authorities.

Appendix, No. 1.

Mr. Macneill's Report.

Mims New Road.

MIMS NEW ROAD.

The surface of the Road is in proper shape, but it is exceedingly heavy and loose, from the nature of the material used in preparing it. The channels are well formed, and the footpath in good order; but the sod border, which was established with much difficulty, and at considerable expense, has been pared away, and allowed to decay, more especially near the Barnet end of the line. The surface of the mile next Mims is in a much better state than the other parts of the Road; it appears to be more attended to, and better scraped. The fences all along the Road are much improved during the last season; they have been frequently weeded and attended to; they are almost sufficiently grown to supersede the necessity of keeping up the post and rail fence. The 12 middle feet of this Road should be coated with Hartshill stone, 3 inches thick, the expense of which would not exceed 3,500*l.*; and when the thoroughfare is so great, this outlay would be fully justified.

From Mims to Colney the surface of the Road is repaired with flint of a much better description than what is used on the Barnet Road; it appears also to be better scraped, and more attended to. The footpath and sides are not properly formed, and there is no sod border on any point of the line. The fences, particularly that on the south-west side of the Road, should be cut down, and properly trimmed. Some attention should be paid to the slip on the south-west side, near the summit of the hill, otherwise the building at the top of the slope will come down.

Should this happen, it will not be the fault of Mr. Telford's original design, as no attempt has been made to prevent the slip since it first occurred, 11 or 12 years ago, although the attention of the Trustees was repeatedly called to it in the Annual Reports of the Commissioners.

On the north-east side of Ridge Hill, and close to the Road, a quarry of excellent flint has been lately opened; this must prove exceedingly beneficial not only to the Road in its immediate neighbourhood, but also to the new Mims Road, which is sufficiently near to be supplied from it.

Between London, Colney, and St. Albans, the surface is much better, and is in as good a state as the nature of flint gravel will admit of; but if the sides, which are now in a very irregular and bad shape, were levelled, and the footpath properly formed, and faced with sod, this portion of the Road would appear as well as any of the new parts. There is a large supply of material prepared, and ready for the ensuing year's repair.

The channels are in some places cut too low, so as to be dangerous for fast coaches, especially in night travelling; the cross section is also imperfect.

St. Albans.

ST. ALBANS.

The Roadway through the town is in a good state, and the channels are properly attended to, and kept clean.

From St. Albans to the end of the new Road at Pondyards is in a much better state than last year; the carriage-way is well scraped, and the channels kept clean. The cross section of the carriage-way and the footpath is very good, and would be quite perfect if there was a sod border, without which no Road can have a neat or finished appearance. The quick fences are now almost quite established throughout the whole line, and will be in a proper state for cutting and trimming next season.

Dunstable Trust.

DUNSTABLE TRUST.

From Pondyards to Redbourn the surface of the Road has been much improved, but is still too weak; it is just now in a proper state to receive a coating of Hartshill stone, without which it will be impossible to make it a perfect Road; and as the surveyor acknowledges that it would be cheaper to use that material than the flint of the neighbourhood, there does not appear to be any good reason for not using it. The surveyor has done much during the last year in forming the sides, channels and footpath, and establishing a sod border on a great part of this division of the Trust. The fences are in several places too high; they should be lowered and properly trimmed. Through the street of Redbourn the Roadway has been formed with Hartshill stone, and continues in excellent order. The manifest superiority of this portion of the Road over all the other parts repaired with gravel, and the comparative ease with which horses can draw carriages over it, should induce the Trustees to use the same material on the whole of their Road.

From Redbourn to Market Street the surface is tolerably smooth and well formed, but appears from several indications to be too weak. The wastes are too high, and the footpath is irregular; there are no sod borders, the fences are very irregular and too high; they should be cut down and trimmed. A large quantity of broken flint and pebble is provided for the ensuing season, and laid in heaps along the waste; they should be left in some convenient place off the Road, or in depôts until they are wanted, as they spoil the appearance of the Road, are injurious to the grass on the wastes, and dangerous to coaches.

Through Market Street the surface has been repaired with Hartshill stone, the channels and footways are kept clear, and the whole is in a very creditable state. From Market Street to Dunstable the surface of the carriage-way is smooth and well formed, and there appears to be more strength in the Road than in the portion between Redbourn and St. Albans. The sides are in many places properly formed; an evident improvement has taken place in the course of last year, but much still remains to be done, as the footpath is not uniform in its appearance or properly formed at any point on the whole line; there are only detached portions portions that have a sod border. Between the Toll-bar and Dunstable the Road, with the exception of one short portion, is in tolerably good repair, neither the sides nor footway are well formed; the latter is in general too high; there are sod borders established on a considerable portion of this length. The old high fences and banks on each side of the Road, before entering Dunstable, should be removed or lowered, and new fences formed in their stead.

The carriage-way through Dunstable is hard and kept in a very good state, but the sides and channels are very imperfect. The Roadway should be constructed and channels and footways formed with proper curb-stones in the manner so often pointed out by Mr. Telford.

PUDDLE HILL TRUST.

Puddle Hill Trust.

From Dunstable to Hockliffe the surface of the Road is very much improved by judicious management, and by using Hartshill stone in the repairs. The sides and wastes are not yet in a proper form, though much has been done by the surveyor in forming a footpath and defining the carriage-way.

HOCKLIFFE AND STRATFORD TRUST.

Hockliffe and Stratford Trust.

The surface of the Road from Hockliffe to the Toll-bar is much improved from having been coated with Hartshill stone. There should be a drain formed on each side, under the water channel, and the slopes of the cuttings should be levelled down and properly smoothed, and sown with grass seeds. From the Toll-bar to the Sand House over the Ballesdon Hills the surface is heavy and loose. Hartshill stone should be used on the 15 middle feet of the carriage-way, especially on the ascents of the hills. That portion of the Road last made near the Sand House has been allowed to wear too low in the middle; it should have a coating of good stone previous to the next autumn, or the pitching may get injured.

From Sand House to Brick Hill the surface of the Road is generally uneven, and in some places slight hollows have been formed, particularly near the 40th milestone; the Roadway is defined, and there is a good sod border on each side, but the footpath is defective, and the wastes are not so well attended to as they were last year. Proper milestones have been lately erected in this Road, similar to those designed by Mr. Telford, and used on the Welsh Road.

There is a large supply of Hartshill stone provided and laid along the side of the Road, between Mr. Duncombe's gate and Brick Hill.

From Brick Hill to Fenny Stratford the surface is much improved, and the wastes, sides, and footpath are nearly in a perfect state, and a good sod border has been established along each side. Through the street of Fenny Stratford, where Hartshill stone has been used, the surface is in a good state, but the channels remain in the same imperfect state they were in last year.

From Fenny Stratford to the Denbigh Hall Inn, the Road has been much improved, and is now in good repair; the channels are well formed and there is a good sod border, but though much has been accomplished towards bringing the wastes and footpath into a proper state, there still requires considerable attention to make them perfect. The bridge by which the Birmingham Railway is to cross over the Road at the Denbigh Hall Valley is now nearly completed, and a side Road is about being formed for the accommodation and safety of travellers, by means of which, the necessity of meeting public carriages or waggons under so long an arch will be avoided. From Denbigh Hall to Stoney Stratford the surface is not very smooth; it is repaired with limestone, except for a short distance between Denbigh Hall and Shenley; it has worn much during the last severe winter; the sides appear weak, and are in several places cut into ruts. The waste and footpath with a little more attention would be nearly perfect; a good sod border is now established almost the whole way on both sides of the Road.

STONEY STRATFORD.

Stoney Stratford.

The street through the town continues in a good state. The bridge over the Ouse has been completed, it is a substantial well-executed work; the Causeway leading from the town to the bridge has been much improved by coating the surface with Hartshill stone, and erecting parapet walls on each side, which will render this part of the Road much safer for night travelling than it hitherto has been.

DUNCHURCH AND STRATFORD TRUST.

Dunchurch and Stratford Trust.

From Stratford to Perney the surface is smooth and the carriage-way well defined; the high banks on each side should be removed, and the hedges trimmed. From Perney to the Gullet Hills the road is in every respect much improved, the sides have been levelled and a footway formed; a little more attention to the levels and cross section would render this part of the Road quite perfect.

From Gullet Hill to Towcester there has not been so much done, nor is there any perceptible improvement since last year; in some places there is no footpath, and in others it is too high; the surface of the Road is in tolerable good order, but the channels do not appear to be on the same level. The more a Road approaches to a state of perfection, the more does any deficiency in the want of true level become apparent; for when the lines of the footpath and wastes are properly laid out, the eye is better enabled to judge of the relative heights.

Appendix, No. 1.

Mr. Macneill's Report

heights. The Road level should therefore be much more used by the surveyor and the foreman than it is at present.

The carriage-way through the street of Towcester is in good repair, but the channels and footways are not properly formed. Between the town and the bridge the footway is too narrow, and very defective. From Towcester to Foster's Booth the Road has been much improved by repairing with Hartshill stone, and by the formation of a footpath; the sides and wastes are levelled and dressed, and a good sod border has been established the whole way. The fences on this part of the Road are in general too high, and not so well attended to as on other parts of this Trust.

From Foster's Booth to Weedon the surface is in a good state, the carriage-way is defined, and the fences are better trimmed than on the last division. The footway and wastes are still defective, though a good deal has been done during the last year towards their improvement.

From Weedon to Daventry a considerable improvement has been made during the last year, both in defining the carriage-way and forming the footpath and wastes, and strengthening the sides, coating the surface with Hartshill stone, and the hedges have been trimmed.

The new milestones which have been placed on this Trust are not properly formed; they have now a very unfinished appearance.

Between Daventry and Braunstone the carriage-way has been considerably improved by strengthening the sides with Hartshill stone, and removing the high banks that were so injurious to the Road.

The wastes have also been improved by levelling and forming, and a footpath with a proper sod border has been made throughout the whole length. The fences have been trimmed and the trees lopped.

From Braunstone to Dunchurch much has been done towards improving the general appearance of the Road, by dressing up the sides, levelling the wastes, and forming the footpath, but the carriage-way has been allowed to wear into ruts, and as the sides have been strengthened by new material, the centre is at present too low; this should be remedied by a coating of Hartshill stone applied to the 15 middle feet. The plan adopted by the surveyor of this Trust to preserve the sod borders until they are fully established, by laying a row of rubble-stone along them, should be followed by the surveyors on the other Trusts, and it is quite effectual.

DUNCHURCH AND STONEBRIDGE TRUST.

Dunchurch and Stonebridge Trust

From Dunchurch to Coventry the Road is in excellent condition; the surveyor has much improved its general appearance by reducing the sides and wastes to a more uniform level, and forming the footway to a proper height and width, and by laying a green sod on the outer and inner edges, and a corresponding one on the opposite side of the road along the waste. The new Road from the Seven Stars to Coventry continues in a perfect state; the quick fence is now quite established.

Through Coventry there has not been any improvement; the old pebble pavement still remains; it should be taken up, and dressed Marstin stone substituted for it.

From Coventry to Allesley the new Road is in a perfect state, except that in one or two places the middle has been allowed to wear down too much.

Through Allesley the Road continues in a good state, the walls want pointing, and the palisade fence before the houses should be repaired and painted.

From Allesley to Meridan the surface of the road is in general good, but the cross section is defective, as the sides are in some places not on the same level; a good deal has been done in forming a new footpath and laying down sod borders on both sides. A footpath should be formed along the new Road at Pickford Brook. The fences are cut and trimmed, but not to one uniform height, as they should be.

From Meridan to Stonebridge the surface is in excellent order, and the channels and wastes are nearly perfect; the footpath is not properly defined on the inner side, but the one next the Road and on the opposite side of the waste, has a good sod border. The fences are not uniformly cut, and in many places much too high.

BIRMINGHAM AND STONEBRIDGE TRUST.

Birmingham and Stonebridge Trust.

From the bridge at the commencement of the Trust to the Clack Inn, the surface of the Road is in good repair, and the channels, sides and footways along the last new work are in a very perfect state; the fences are much improved, and are sufficiently low, but not uniformly trimmed. The sides have been strengthened, and the carriage-way properly defined. From the Clack Inn to Small Heath the surface is smooth, but carriages run heavy over it: it should be more frequently scraped; in a few instances it is too low in the middle. The surveyor has done much in forming and dressing the sides and wastes, and in laying down a sod border on the side of the wastes and footpath; and has improved the appearance of the road, by cleansing the sides and cutting the fences, and lopping the trees on both sides of the Road.

The heaps of mud which have been collected on the sides, between Elmsden and the Swan should be spread over the waste, or carted away. The waste on the south side, descending from the Brickfield, is too much inclined towards the fence; it should be filled up, and properly levelled.

The descent from Small Heath Toll-bar to the canal bridge has been improved by coating the middle of the Road with whin-stone, and making up the sides with gravel.

BIRMINGHAM.

Birmingham.

The carriage-way through Birmingham is much improved; the pebble pavement has been taken up, and broken stone substituted for it. The channels are properly formed, and the footways laid with flags.

On leaving Birmingham, and ascending Snow Hill, the surface is loose, and extremely difficult to draw over; it does not appear to have been scraped, or properly attended to; and from the red appearance of the mud in the surface, the pebble made use of in the repairs was not properly cleansed.

From the Red Lion Public-house to the Woodman, the surface of the Road is better, and appears to be stronger. On each side of the Three-mile Oak the Road is very heavy, and the cross section is imperfect; the carriage-way is too flat in the middle. From the Three-mile Oak to the Junction Inn the surface is heavy, and in several places worn into holes and ruts. In consequence of the great traffic that is on this Road of heavy coal carts and waggons, from the works in the neighbourhood, it will never be perfect until its foundation is strengthened by a side pavement, which could be done at a cheap rate, as there is a plentiful supply of proper materials in the neighbourhood. The sides should also be strengthened, and 15 middle feet coated with broken pebble and Rowley-rag.

From the Junction Inn to the town of Wednesbury the carriage-way is much better; the cross-section has the proper convexity, and the sides are strong. The surveyor has done a good deal towards improving the appearance of the Road by forming the wastes and footpaths, and laying down curb stones along the sides, and forming proper channels.

BILSTON TRUST.

Bilston Trust.

The whole of this Road is in a very imperfect state; the surface has been allowed to wear into holes and ruts, and the cross section is irregular and imperfect. On a Road such as this, where the traffic is so considerable, every attention should be paid to keep it in the proper shape and convexity, and to scrape it frequently, which appear to have been much neglected. The constant derangement to which this Road is subject, in consequence of the subsidence of the surface, caused by the working of the coal and iron stone, may be some excuse for the imperfect form of the Road; but there is none for the dirty state in which it is at present. The footpath is uneven, and very imperfect, and the sod border is in many places quite destroyed. Curb-stones should be laid on both sides, similar to those on the Wednesbury Trust, and the carriage-way should be made up with Bankhill stone or pebble. The fences are properly attended to, and are in a thriving state.

WOLVERHAMPTON TRUST.

Wolverhampton Trust.

From the Gibbet-lane Gate to the New Road at Wolverhampton, a considerable improvement has been made by the formation of new footways, and properly defining the carriage-way. The surface of the Road is also improved; but it will not have a finished appearance until curb-stones are laid along each side. The new Road continues in a perfect state, with the exception of the sod border, which has been cut too much away.

From Wolverhampton to Tetenhall considerable improvement has been made by defining the carriage-way, forming proper channels, and dressing up the footpath. The road is also well scraped; in some places it has got too hollow in the middle; a good sod border has been established along the side of the footpath. From Tetenhall to the Wergs, the surface is hard and smooth; but it is still defective, from not being properly defined on the south side. The channels are properly formed, and the fences are also neatly trimmed. From the Wergs to the Summer-house the carriage-way has been defined in several places; the surface is in good condition, and properly attended to; the fences are trimmed, but not low enough; on the new portion of the Road, near the Summer-house, they have not been attended to. From the Summer-house to Whiston Cross does not appear to be improved in any way since last year, except in a partial defining of the Road, and forming a sod border between the 130th and 132d milestone. The surface is in general good, and well scraped.

Near the mill at Gosford Brook the surface is worn into ruts, and the cross section is imperfect; this part of the Road has not been well scraped, nor the channels cleaned out. The fences have not been trimmed or cut down.

From the top of the ascent above Gosford Brook to Shiffnal, a portion of the Road has been properly defined; a good footpath has been formed, and the wastes have been levelled, and faced with sod in a proper and workmanlike manner. The whole of the Road under this Trust has been much improved during the last year; and if the surveyor continues the same judicious system for a few years, it will render this portion of the Holyhead Road as perfect as any on the whole line.

SHIFFNAL TRUST.

Shiffnal Trust.

Through Shiffnal the Road has been lately repaired with broken pebble, and is now in a good state. The remaining portion of this Trust is in as perfect a state as can be expected; the parts lately made are quite so. The surface, channels and footpaths are particularly well attended to, and do great credit to the surveyor. A stone wall should be built on the side of the Road from near the Brick-field to the Canal Bridge, similar to that on the other parts of the Road.

Appendix, No. 1.

Mr. Macneill's Report.

Wellington Trust.

WELLINGTON TRUST.

From the commencement of the Trust to the Canal Bridge, near Ketley, the surface has been strengthened and partly defined, and a curb-stone set along the sides; but it is still very imperfect and irregular, principally owing to the working of the coal mines under the Road. Through Ketley the Road has been improved by setting a curb-stone, and defining the channels. From Ketley to the end of the Trust, the surface is in a good state of repair. Considerable improvement has been made between Haygate and the commencement of the new works, by raising a hollow, and by defining the carriage-way. The channels are kept clean, and the surface well scraped. The new improvement to avoid Overley Hill has been finished for some months, and is now in a very perfect state.

Shrewsbury District of the Watling-street Road.

SHREWSBURY DISTRICT OF THE WATLING-STREET ROAD.

The new line to avoid the hill at the Horse Shoe, has been opened to the public for some time, and is now in excellent condition.

From the end of the new work to Atcham Bridge the Road has been improved by defining the carriage-way, and regulating the sides and surface, and forming channels, but much still remains to bring it into proper shape. Near the Toll-bar the Road lies very low, and is constantly damp; the old fence on the south side should be removed, and a new one made instead of it, with a drain on the inside at least four feet deep. From Atcham Bridge to the Abbey foregate, the Road has also been improved by defining the carriage-way, and forming water channels. The footpath has been altered and lowered in some places; but it is not perfect except where new fences have been made. The carriage-way has been strengthened by a coating of well broken stone.

A new entrance has been made to Shrewsbury by carrying the Road to the southward of the Abbey church, by which means the sharp angles and the old circuitous road has been avoided.

The Road over the Bridge and through the streets of Shrewsbury remains in the same state as last year.

Appendix, No. 2.

Appendix, No. 2.

Mr. John Provis's Report.

REPORT OF MR. JOHN PROVIS.

Sir, Holyhead, 9 May 1837.

In compliance with the directions contained in your letter to me of the 11th ult. I have recently made a survey of the road from Shrewsbury to Holyhead, the Menai and Conway Bridges, and Holyhead Harbour, and beg leave to submit the following Report thereon to the Commissioners of his Majesty's Woods, Forests, &c.

Shrewsbury and Holyhead Road.

SHREWSBURY AND HOLYHEAD ROAD.

First District.—FROM SHREWSBURY TO CHIRK BRIDGE; 23 miles.

Between the Welch Bridge and the commencement of this Trust the Road would be much improved by passing at the back of the houses on the east side, so as to avoid the winding, inconvenient street of Frankwell, where travellers are much annoyed by the accumulation of carts and waggons which are allowed to remain there, particularly on market-days.

The short ascent over the bank called the Mount, near the south end of this district is too steep, and the footpath on its east side too high; but they cannot be altered without interfering with the garden wall on the east, and the houses on the west side of the Road, to which objections have been raised.

From the termination of the paved street of Shrewsbury to Montford Bridge, the surface of the Road is maintained in good condition. Stone from the Breidden Hills continues to be used for its repair, and the superiority of this stone over the gravel formerly used is evident from the improved appearance of the Road. Since I made my Report last year the fixing of the curb-stones to the footpath between Dr. Darwin's house and Shelton has been completed.

In my last Report I mentioned that the Commissioners of this Road were endeavouring to borrow money from the Exchequer Bill Loan Commissioners for improving Montford Hill. A loan has been obtained, and a contract entered into for this work, which is now in the course of execution. The present Road is about 22 feet in width, the steepest part of the ascent on the south side of the hill is 1 in 14, and on the north side 1 in 15. The new Line will be made 30 feet in width; its greatest rate of inclination on the south side of the hill will be 1 in 30, and on the north side 1 in 24. It will be straighter in its direction, and its summit will be 12 feet lower than that of the old Road.

Between Montford Bridge and Ness-cliff the Road is of variable width, and is very narrow near Ensden. The Breidden Hill stone is gradually bringing the surface of this piece of Road into a sounder state than it was when gravel only was used for its repair.

Last

Appendix, No. 2.

Mr. John Provis's Report.

Last summer the Road was widened for a short distance on the north side of Ness-cliff, so as to ease off an abrupt projection of the fence on its east side.

Near Ness-cliff, the Breidden Hill stone is being gradually introduced for the repairs; the expense of cartage has hitherto prevented the use of it to a greater extent on this part of the Road. Hence to the Queen's Head, the surface is in good travelling order, but wants a greater body of materials to strengthen it. Near West Felton the Road is too narrow.

From the Queen's Head to Oswestry the surface is in good travelling order, but that part of it which lies along the side of Aston Park is kept wet and slovenly during the winter months, in consequence of being overshadowed by the trees, the leaves from which fall in great quantities into the Road.

The sharp turn which the Road takes in the centre of Oswestry is very dangerous for the mail and other coaches which travel with rapidity.

The Road between Oswestry and Gobowen, though somewhat improved in condition by the great quantity of materials that has been applied to its repair, is still imperfect, and requires considerable expense to maintain it in such a state as to bear the heavy traffic in coal that it has to sustain. The new line of Road between Gobowen and Chirk Bridge has evidently improved since last year, and the quantity of dirt to be scraped off it has considerably decreased.

Second District.—FROM CHIRK BRIDGE TO CERNIOGE; 30 miles.

From Chirk Bridge to Cernioge.

For the first three miles north of Chirk, the wear of this district of Road by the heavy loads of lime and coal that are continually passing along it, is very great. Some new cross drains are about to be built near Chirk, to assist in taking the surface water more readily off that level portion of the Road. Continuing north to Llangollen, the Road is in every respect in excellent order.

From Llangollen to Cernioge the surface has been kept during the past year in good order, but all the stone that can be procured for its repair being of too soft a nature, and rapidly worn away by carriages passing over it, it is heavy in wet weather and requires scraping frequently.

Near Ty-issa Toll-gate a better fence is wanted on one side of the Road, as mentioned in last year's Report. The Commissioners under the Act of 3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 43, have contracted for repairing the fence walls from a little south of the village of Cerrig-y-druidion to Cernioge; the work will be finished early this year, and will be of great benefit to the walls. Other parts of the fence walls on this district are in a bad state, and require to be repaired and pointed.

Third District.—FROM CERNIOGE TO THE MENAI BRIDGE; 32 miles.

From Cernioge to the Menai Bridge.

The surface of this district is in excellent order for its whole length.

From Cernioge to Pentre-Voelas the fence walls are under contract to be repaired, pinned and pointed, by the Commissioners under the Act of the 3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 43, and the same Commissioners have, since I made my last Report, repaired and pointed the walls between Pentre-Voelas and Bettws-y-coed.

Within the town of Bangor no improvement has been made during the past year, except to repair the paved side channels. The Road through the town is narrow and crooked, and as the inhabitants will not go to the expense of lighting it properly, it is surprising that accidents do not frequently occur to carriages and foot-passengers in the long dark evenings of winter.

The Toll-gate belonging to the Trustees of the Carnarvon Roads, which stood near the west end of Bangor, and which has long been complained of, was removed from the Road in May last.

Fourth District.—FROM THE MENAI BRIDGE TO HOLYHEAD; 21 miles.

From the Menai Bridge to Holyhead.

The stone used for repairing this district of Road being of very good quality, the surface has been kept in excellent condition for travelling.

The fence walls continue generally in good order, and lime has been procured ready to repair those parts that have been injured during the winter, so that in a short time they will be put into a proper state of repair again.

Every part of the embankment across the Stanley Sands is in a very satisfactory state; a few of the loose stones on the east face were occasionally displaced by the sea in the course of the past winter, but none of the stones on those parts that were paved were removed, though they are in the situation where the waves strike with the greatest violence. The bridge and parapet walls continue as perfect as when first built.

THE MENAI BRIDGE.

The Menai Bridge.

The works required and executed at this Bridge during the past year have consisted in the ordinary repairs to the coating of the carriage-way, cleaning and painting sundry parts of the ironwork, and paving under the arches where the planking was defective. In the present year the whole of the ironwork should be painted, this being the third year since it was

Appendix, No 2.

Mr. John Provis's Report.

was thoroughly coated. It is also desirable that the main chains should be covered with zinc or lead where the water drips upon them in the headings, and that the Toll-houses should be battened to keep out the damp, as recommended in last year's Report.

CONWAY BRIDGE.

Conway Bridge.

Nothing more has been required at this Bridge during the past year than to keep the carriage-way coated in a proper manner with pitch and gravel, and occasionally to repair the painting. The whole of the ironwork will require to be painted in the present year; and it is also desirable that the following works recommended in last year's Report should be executed with as little delay as possible; namely, to cover the main chains where in the headings with zinc or lead, to prevent the water dripping on them from the rock; to batten the Toll-houses, to exclude the damp; and to build a low parapet wall along each side of the Road over the embankment.

HOLYHEAD HARBOUR.

Holyhead Harbour.

When I wrote my last year's Report, the new building for the life-boat was in hand, as was also the new Road to the post-office stores and workshops, and the fencing in of store-yards for the custom-house, harbour-office, and the Commissioners' workshops: all these works are now completed.

In the course of the past year, the old defective gas pipes between the swivel bridge and the Royal Hotel have been taken up, and new pipes substituted, by which a considerable saving of gas has been effected. The harbour-offices have been repaired; and two African oak mooring-posts have been provided, and fixed on the north pier.

The following works are now in progress:—The fixing of the cast-iron posts that have been provided for supporting the protecting chains on the north side of the harbour; the improvements of the Road between the north pier and the swivel bridge, which would have been completed some months ago, had it not been reserved as an employment for the men who are working with the diving-bell, when stormy weather occurs; lime is burning for pointing the face of the north pier; timber is provided for two new mooring-buoys; the carpenters are proceeding with the repair of the workmen's cottages on the Salt Island; the diving-bell is engaged in cutting down rock within the packet berths, and as soon as that important work is finished; it will be employed in cutting away other detached portions of rock which have been ordered to be lowered.

The piers, roads, graving-dock, swivel-bridge, steam-engine, gas-works, light-house, and lamps, are all in a satisfactory state, and appear likely to continue so.

The number of vessels that entered this harbour during the year 1836, exclusive of King's ships, pleasure yachts, and the steam-packets and coal vessels employed by the post-office, was 833; the registered tonnage was 52,296.

FOURTEENTH REPORT

OF THE

COMMISSIONERS

Appointed under the Acts of 4 Geo. IV. c. 74, 7 & 8 Geo. IV. c. 35, and 3 & 4 Will. IV. c. 43, for vesting in them certain Bridges, &c.; and for the Improvement of the

ROAD FROM LONDON TO HOLYHEAD,

AND FROM

LONDON TO LIVERPOOL.

Ordered, by The House of Commons, to be Printed,
15 July 1837.

METROPOLIS ROADS.

TO THE HONOURABLE THE KNIGHTS, CITIZENS AND BURGESSES IN PARLIAMENT ASSEMBLED.

THE ELEVENTH REPORT of the COMMISSIONERS of the METROPOLIS TURNPIKE ROADS North of the Thames; (appointed under the Act 7 Geo. IV. c. 142;) prepared in obedience to the 138th section of that Act.

IN conformity with the Act of Parliament constituting the Commission, the COMMISSIONERS of the METROPOLIS TURNPIKE ROADS North of the Thames beg leave to submit their Eleventh Annual Report.

The Commissioners have the satisfaction to state that the system organized under their superintendence continues to realize all the beneficial results which were anticipated from it.

Notwithstanding the very unfavourable weather which the Roads have had to encounter since the close of last summer, they continue in good order, and in a state of progressive improvement.

This must, in a great measure, be attributed to the labour and expense which have been directed to the formation of a hard surface by the use of the best materials. The Commissioners, however, have taken care that, in every projected improvement, reference should be had to their pecuniary means; and they have the satisfaction to state, that while no necessary outlay is spared upon the Roads under their charge, the Revenues of the Commission are fully adequate to its current expenses, and to the gradual liquidation of its consolidated debt.

During the past year, the Commissioners have not found it necessary to employ any large sums in new works; but improvements on a small scale, on various Lines of Road, have been carried into effect, by which the safety and convenience of travellers have been promoted.

An improvement of a very extensive nature is, however, now in the contemplation of the Commissioners. For many years the most seriously inconvenient and unsightly part of any Road in the neighbourhood of the Metropolis has been that part of the Great Western Road which passes through the Town of Brentford. At present, the Town of Brentford is, in fact, the only pass into the Metropolis in that direction; and it is so narrow, and so populous, as to render a quick passage through it a matter of no inconsiderable danger. It is, indeed, generally estimated that the fast coaches lose five minutes of their time in passing the short distance of the confined street which constitutes the Town of Brentford.

The Commissioners, therefore, have deemed it of the highest importance to form a new communication, so as to avoid the Town of Brentford altogether, provided the land can be obtained upon fair and equitable conditions; and they desired their General Surveyor to furnish them with a Plan for a New Road to the North of Brentford: that Plan will be found subjoined to the Report of the General Surveyor in the Appendix.

An application has been made to the Commissioners by the inhabitants of Brentford to widen the street through the Town, instead of forming a New Road, and Plans and Estimates of Expense were subsequently laid before them by a deputation from the inhabitants; but which, not being sufficiently explicit and defined, the Commissioners required more detailed information before they could entertain their proposals, or be enabled to judge whether such a project could be accomplished at the same expense, and afford similar advantages and facilities to the public.

The amount of outlay will greatly exceed any surplus at present in the hands of the Commissioners; but as the work would be some time in progress, they have no doubt that, by pursuing an attentive and economical system, funds will be provided sufficient for the accomplishment of so desirable an improvement.

The Receipt from Tolls during the last year has amounted to 83,497*l.* 10*s.*, which exceeds by 3,854*l.* 17*s.* 8*d.* the Receipt from Tolls in the preceding year. In announcing this improvement in Revenue, it is necessary to guard against the supposition that it is clear gain to the funds of the Commission; it is chiefly caused by the increase of a traffic which wears out the Roads faster than any other, namely, that of omnibuses. This traffic has greatly increased upon the Roads ten miles out of London. The Commissioners are apprehensive that the increase in repairs with hard stone, rendered necessary by this traffic, will more than balance the increase of the Revenue derived from the Tolls.

The Total Expenditure of last year amounts to 85,141*l.* 11*s.* 4*d.*, including 5,000*l.* of debt paid off, and 3,400*l.* of interest on the gradually decreasing Mortgage Debt.

The particulars of all the Items of Receipt and Expenditure during the past year will be found in the Appendix, to which the Commissioners beg to refer.

The Commissioners beg to refer to the Report of their General Surveyor for a detailed account of what has been done on the Roads during the past year, and a statement of their present condition.

LOWTHER,
Chairman.

Appendix, No. 2.

REPORT from the GENERAL SURVEYOR to the COMMISSIONERS, on the present State and Condition of the Metropolis District of Roads.

Metropolis Roads Office, 22, Whitehall Place,
25 March 1837.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

I HAVE the honour to lay before the Board the Eleventh Report on the Operations and State of Repair of the Metropolis Turnpike Roads North of the Thames, during the last year.

1st & 2d DISTRICTS. Kensington and Brentford.

Upon these Districts a further portion of the Pavement which remained near the Halfway House has been removed, and a broken stone Road substituted. I would recommend that the remaining portion, now reduced to a short length, should be taken up in the course of the ensuing summer; all the carriage Pavements throughout these Districts will then have been removed.

The long continued complaints from travellers and the public in general of the inconvenience, danger and loss of time experienced in passing through the Old and New Towns of Brentford, owing to the narrow and confined situation of the Road, have induced the Commissioners to turn their attention to the possibility of forming a new Line of Road on the north of Brentford, to meet the safety, convenience and wishes of the public. I have the honour to subjoin a Plan of such Line. Appendix, No. 3.

3d & 4th DISTRICTS. Uxbridge Road.

The opportunity afforded for improving the Line of Road near Hanwell, in consequence of the Works of the Great Western Railway, has been carried into effect, the required Land has been purchased, and the new Road will shortly be opened to the use of the public.

The Commissioners have been induced to contribute towards the formation of a new Sewer extending eastward for some distance from the Sewer at the top of Notting Hill, and affording effectual means of draining this portion of the Road. This portion was formerly lowered to reduce the hill, which rendered it difficult, if not impossible, to get the water off.

I am happy to be enabled to report that the wall of Hyde Park on the south side of this Line of Road has been removed, and an iron railing substituted, by which the sun and air are freely admitted to the surface of the Road. A give and take line, in order to straighten the line of this new railing, was arranged with the Commissioners of His Majesty's Woods, &c., by which the Road has been widened, where it most required it, near Bayswater.

5th DISTRICT. Shepherd's Bush Road.

The thoroughfare on this new Road continues to increase, affording proof of its convenience and utility to the public.

Great portions of this Road have been exposed to very heavy and severe traffic, by the operations of the London and Birmingham Railway Company, and it has required additional quantities of materials, labour and care to uphold it in its usual good condition.

An opportunity having offered itself, in consequence of the Railway Company's Works at Wimbley, greatly to improve the Line of Road at that place, and the Railway Company having offered to make the necessary excavation, provided the Commissioners would purchase the Land, the whole has been arranged, and the Improvement is proceeding, a Plan of which is annexed. Appendix, No. 4.

The new Road forming by the Railroad Company at Kensal Green is nearly completed.

7th & 8th DISTRICTS. Kilburn and Edgeware Roads.

The Commissioners having determined to water the whole of these Districts as far as Stanmore Hill, the necessary Tanks and Wells have been dug, Pumps erected, and every means have been provided and exertions used to secure the best supply of Water which these Districts will afford during the summer season.

Buildings having been extended on the western side of this Line at the Pine Apple Gate, the Commissioners were induced, in consequence of representations from the inhabitants, to remove that Toll-house from the west side of the Road, and to place it in the centre, with a gate on each side. This alteration enabled the Footway on the western side to be continued, and that on the eastern side to be lowered and made uniform. The numerous projections from gateways, &c. have been removed, by which the appearance of this portion of Road has been much improved.

9th DISTRICT. Highgate and Hampstead Roads.

The alterations of the Road, permitted by the Commissioners, for the formation of the London and Birmingham Extension Railway from Camden Town to Euston-square, which passes underneath Park-street and the Hampstead-road near Mornington-crescent, have been made, and the Works required by the Commissioners to be executed by the Railway Company in consequence thereof are nearly completed.

The traffic and heavy weights upon the portions of these Districts in the neighbourhood of the above Railway, and that of the London and Birmingham, have been much increased, and have caused a considerable expenditure in materials.

This

This Road, although exposed to a constant thoroughfare of omnibusses and other heavy carriages, has been maintained throughout the season in good order, with the excellent material, Guernsey granite, used for its repair. 10th DISTRICT. City Road.

The London and Cambridge Railway is intended to pass over these Districts at Kingsland, and the Commissioners have obtained the insertion of the necessary Clauses for the protection of the Lines of Road at that place, by having sufficient breadth and height in the Arches upon which the Railway is to be formed. These Works have not yet been commenced. 11th & 12th DISTRICTS. Stamford Hill Roads.

The usual supply of materials from Hertfordshire has been procured for these Districts, and the whole Lines have been kept in their usual good state of Repair.

A small portion of the filling on the latter of these Districts gave way, owing to the wet weather. These fillings have been made up, and some slips which occurred in the cuttings, owing to the same cause, have been removed, and the whole are in good condition. 13th & 14th DISTRICTS. Green Lanes and Seven Sisters Roads.

The improvement of the Footpaths, by placing Curb-stone on the edge thereof, and by defining the breadth of the same by a give and take line with the parishes, has been completed. 15th & 16th DISTRICTS. Hackney and Lea Bridge Roads.

A deep and dangerous ditch by the side of the Road, near the turning to Leyton, has been got rid of, by the proprietor of the land placing a barrel-drain in the same, by which the Road at that place has been rendered safe and convenient.

The past season having been one of unprecedented wet weather, has made it necessary to apply frequent coats of materials, in order to guard against the injury which would naturally have arisen therefrom upon Roads exposed to so heavy and constant a thoroughfare, and I feel much satisfaction in being able to report that the Roads generally under the care of the Commissioners, have been upheld in as good condition as the state of the weather would permit, affording evidence of the great advantage of the use of hard stone in their repair, which has maintained them during such a trying season in good travelling order.

76,789 cubic yards of materials have been laid upon the Roads during the last year, and annexed is a Return of Implements and Materials on hand at this time.

I have the honour to be,
My Lords and Gentlemen,
Your faithful Servant,
JAMES M'ADAM,
General Surveyor.

REPORT OF MR. JOHN PROVIS, TO THE COMMISSIONERS,

On the State of the Road from Holyhead to Shrewsbury.

TO THE COMMISSIONERS

For Improving and Maintaining the Road from Holyhead to Shrewsbury.

GENTLEMEN,

HAVING balanced and closed the past year's Accounts of the several Officers in your employ, I now beg to lay before you the foregoing General Statement of the Income and Expenditure of the Road, together with a comparative Statement of the travelling for the last five years; and, in the following Report, I shall describe the present condition of the Works under your charge, as also any improvement that has been effected on the Road since I made my last year's Report.

1.—FROM HOLYHEAD TO THE MENAI BRIDGE,—21 Miles; AND BRANCHES TO BODEDERN AND LLANGEFNI,—3 Miles.

The surface of this District of Road has been maintained in a very satisfactory state during the past year, and there will be but little difficulty in keeping it so, provided the Tolls supply sufficient funds to defray the expense, as it has the advantage of having good materials for its repair along the greater part of it. The surface of the branch Roads is in good repair.

The embankment across the Stanley Sands continues to stand well. Some of the loose stones on the east face are occasionally displaced during stormy weather, but the injury occasioned thereby is trifling, and easily repaired. The good effect of having paved those parts where the sea strikes with the greatest violence is apparent, as the stones remain firm in their places.

The fence walls are generally in good order. The Act of 5 & 6 Will. IV. c. 21, which imposes a fine upon any person found damaging them, or removing any part without the written authority of the surveyor, has done much for their protection; pieces of them are still thrown down occasionally, but the mischief being done at night, renders the detection of the offender extremely difficult. Printed notices have been circulated, containing copies of those clauses in the Act which relate to the removal of fences, making encroachments on the Road, defacing milestones, committing nuisances, riding in carts, &c. &c., so that those who offend can have no right to plead ignorance as a justification for doing mischief.

2.—MENAI BRIDGE TO CERNIOGE,—32 Miles.

Between the Menai Bridge and Bangor, the fences and surface of the Road continue in a perfect state.

Through the town of Bangor the surface of the Road is in good order. The paved side channels having sunk and become irregular in places, the defective parts have been taken up and relaid. No improvement has been made during the past year, either by widening or lighting this part of the Road, which still continues extremely narrow; and as the mails and stage coaches pass along it in the winter months after day-light has closed, the want of lamps renders it dangerous for either carriages or foot passengers to be passing at the same time.

The Toll-gate near the east end of Bangor, which by the Act of the 59th Geo. III. c. 30, was vested in the trustees of the Carnarvon Roads, was removed by those trustees in May last, and in consequence thereof they are by their new Act relieved from the annual payment to you of 50*l.* for repairing the Road through Bangor to Llandegai.

The surface of the Road is in excellent order for the whole distance from Bangor to Cernioge. Between the summit of the south ascent from the River Cegin and Llandegai, the Road is frequently wet, owing to its being so much overshadowed by the high wall on the east, and the trees on the west side of it.

The contract for repairing and pointing the fence walls between Capel Cûrig and Pentre Fœlas, has been completed, and a further contract has been entered into by the Commissioners under the Act of the 3d and 4th Will. IV. c. 45, which, when executed, will finish the repair of the remainder of the fences in this District.

3.—CERNIOGE TO CHIRK,—30 Miles.

Continuing from the end of the last District, the Commissioners under the Act of the 3d and 4th Will. IV. c. 43, have contracted for the repairing and pointing of the fence walls, to about a mile south of the village of Cerrig-y-druidion.

Near Hendre-r-ddwyfaen, the eastern bank of the River Geirw has been washed away to such an extent as to render it necessary to face it with stone for a short distance, to prevent the nearer approach of the River to the Road.

Between Cernioge and Llangollen the surface is in good order, but harder materials are much wanted for its repair, as wet weather soon renders it heavy. From Llangollen to near the coal works, limestone is procured for coating it; and as this part of the Road has fewer heavy vehicles passing along it than on the north side of Llangollen, it wears less rapidly, and and is smoother and cleaner. The south end of this District is very flat, which, added to the wear of the numerous coal-carts on it, keeps it wet and dirty during the winter. Some cross drains are about to be built, which will assist in taking the surface water more speedily off. Stronger repair materials are much wanted here; no stone that can be procured within a reasonable distance has been left untried, but none is sufficiently hard.

The trees on the side of the Road have been lopped wherever their branches projected too far over the carriage-way. In several places the fences are imperfect, but I hope that in the course of a few years the whole of them will be put into as good a state of repair as those in the last-mentioned District.

4.—Chirk Bridge to Shrewsbury,—23 Miles.

The new line of Road between Chirk Bridge and Gobowen has been maintained in fair travelling order during the winter, and notwithstanding the extreme wetness of the latter part of the year, the quantity of dirt scraped off it is less than has frequently been the case in former years. Several boat-loads of stone have been brought by canal from near Welsh Pool, and a coating of it has been spread on the Road of sufficient length to enable me to determine, in the course of the present year, whether or not it is advisable to go to the expense of obtaining it from so great a distance. The quantity used last year was not enough to give it a fair trial.

Between Gobowen and Oswestry a considerable body of materials has been laid upon the Road, which is improving, though very slowly. The original imperfection of its construction, and the heavy traffic over it, adds greatly to the difficulty of keeping it in a proper state of repair. Curb-stones have been fixed along a further portion of the foot-path since I made my last years' Report.

From Oswestry to the Queen's-head Toll-gate, the Road is in good travelling order, but is in places too much shaded by trees. The lowering of the hedge along Aston Park has been continued by Mr. Lloyd since last year, and, when completed, will greatly benefit the Road by opening it to the sun and air.

From the Queen's-head to near Nesscliff the Road is in good order, but wants strengthening in several places. At Nesscliff, and thence to Montford Bridge, the Breidden Hill stone has been used for the repairs instead of gravel, as far as the funds of the Road could afford so expensive a material, and the surface is much improved thereby. The acute bend in the Road near the Pigeons public-house, alluded to in last years' Report, has been cut away, so as to be no longer dangerous to the travelling.

In my last years' Report I stated that a survey had been made of Montford Hill, and I have now the satisfaction of stating that the Exchequer Bill Loan Commissioners have consented to advance money upon the security of the Tolls, for improving the Road over this hill. The work has been let by contract, and materials provided for commencing without delay. At present the Road is about 22 feet in width, it ascends on the north side at inclinations of one in 15, 17 and 18, and descends on the south side at the rates of one in 14, 16 and 18. It is intended to make the new line 30 feet in width, to lower the summit 12 feet, and to embank on each side, so that when the improvement is completed, the ascent on the north side of the hill will be one in 24, and the descent on the south side one in 30. By deviating a little from the present line on each side of the hill, the Road will be made rather shorter, and some awkward bends will be avoided.

The Breidden Hill stone continues to be used, in preference to any other that can be obtained, for the repair of the Road between Montford Bridge and Shrewsbury, and the surface has been maintained by it in good order. Curb-stones from the Cardiston quarry have been provided and fixed along the edge of the foot-path from Shelton Toll-gate to the Monk's Eye. This completes the line of foot-path from Shelton to Shrewsbury, a distance of about a mile and half.

The repeal of the Acts for allowing composition and statute duty upon Turnpike Roads will be severely felt; the loss occasioned thereby upon the Road under your charge will be more than £.400 per annum,—a large sum when it is considered that, even with it, the funds of the Road are scarcely sufficient to defray the expense of keeping it in repair, after paying the interest upon the debt left you by your predecessors.

It is much to be regretted that no Toll can be levied upon the Mail Coaches travelling through North Wales. There is at present only one, Holyhead and Shrewsbury coach, from which any income is derived; whereas, for the first 25 miles out of Holyhead, there are two mails, and for the remainder of the distance to Shrewsbury one mail, both of them going and returning daily with four horses each, without contributing any thing towards the support of the Road.

Several of Harris and Bourne's Patent Scrapers have been employed upon the Road during the past year; the men have now become accustomed to the use of them, and can scrape cleaner, and perform their work for half the price that was paid when using the common road-scraper.

The Tolls are advertised to be let for the ensuing year, and the accounts, estimates, &c., will be prepared, ready to lay before you at your next meeting.

I have the honour to be, Gentlemen,

Your faithful and obedient Servant,

Holyhead, 9 March 1837. JOHN PROVIS.

&c. &c. &c.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR LORDSHIPS,

WE have the honour to transmit our Fifth Annual Report, as Commissioners of Public Works in Ireland, with Abstracts of the Accounts for the various Services under our Charge, the principal of which Services are as follows, viz.:

I.—Loans and Grants for Public Works.
II.—The Collection of Repayments of old Loans.
III.—Inland Navigation.
IV.—Fisheries.
V.—Roads and Bridges.
VI.—The Public Buildings in Dublin and Phœnix Park.
VII.—Dunmore Harbour.

I.—LOANS AND GRANTS FOR PUBLIC WORKS.

THE particulars of the several Loans and Grants which have been made, or which are under consideration, will be found in the Appendix.

The sums applicable to these Loans are,

1st. Originally appropriated by the Act of 1 & 2 Will. 4, c. 33 - - - - - -	500,000
2d. Exchequer Bills paid off by monies received in repayment of principal, the amount of which is considered to be re-issuable under the 60th clause of the 1st & 2d Will. 4, c. 33 - - - - - -	67,550
3d. Additional sum appropriated by the Act of 6 & 7 Will. 4, c. 108 - - - - -	100,000
Making a Total of - - - £.	667,550

Engagements

Engagements have been made, with the proper sanction, up to the 31st December 1836, for advances to the amount of 550,400 l., leaving now available for Loans only 117,150 l.

The issues, up to the 31st December 1836, on account of these engagements amount to 404,200 l., of which Exchequer Bills, to the amount of 103,150 l., have been paid off, at the expiration of the periods (three years) for which they were issued, leaving 301,050 l. outstanding and due at various dates within the three years, commencing 1st January 1837.

The repayments of principal, in reduction of the Loans made, may be expected to produce, within the same period, upwards of 100,000 l.; thus creating further funds available for Loans between 30,000 l. and 40,000 l. per annum, for the three years ending 31st December 1839.

These several resources may be sufficient to meet the ordinary demands from grand juries for county works, and for other objects on a small scale, but will be inadequate for great works, and in particular for any of the railway projects which are in contemplation, some of which at least, it is hoped, may be on a foundation worthy of such encouragement.

By the Act of last session, providing the additional sum of 100,000 l. for advances, some of the conditions required by the original Act for the promotion of Public Works have been relaxed and made more favourable, in many cases, to parties borrowing.

With reference to the general utility of these Loans, we beg to draw attention to the evidence afforded by one particular case.

In the observations annexed to the statement of Loans made by this Board will be found a remark on the practical good effects which have resulted from the loan (No. 10), of 1,000 l. to the Ballymurtagh Copper Mine Company. It may, perhaps, be assumed, that, had this Fund not been available, an advance, on terms equally favourable, might have been obtained elsewhere; that, however, is doubtful; and, at all events, the Board have reason to know, that the very fact of Loans having been obtained from this Board has proved an inducement, in some cases, to English capitalists to invest money in such concerns, from the knowledge of the investigations that we are required to make, as to their utility, prospects and probable operation.

The parties interested in certain Loans, amounting, in the whole, to 7,600 l., have, for various reasons, not availed themselves of the assistance recommended and sanctioned, and in some instances have proceeded to the execution of the contemplated projects upon private or other resources. Of this the most prominent instance is that of Colonol Conolly, M. P., in the case of the improvement of the harbour of Ballyshannon, for which a loan of 5,000 l. had been sanctioned by the proper authorities. The works have been undertaken and prosecuted chiefly, if not entirely, at the expense of that public-spirited individual, and, from the report of the engineers, it appears with very considerable effect, and leading to very satisfactory results. Obstructions to the navigation have been removed, and an increased depth of water has been obtained, bringing a larger class of vessel into the trade of Ballyshannon, and enabling all descriptions of craft engaged in the commerce of that port to arrive at and depart from the quays sooner and later than was practicable in the former state of the bar: the traffic is represented to have materially increased in consequence of these facilities and improvements; and the works contemplated at the commencement having been executed to their full extent, further proceeding has been suspended until some experience shall have been had of the effects of the wind and sea upon what has been already accomplished, and a mature judgment may be formed as to the propriety or expediency of other works of improvement for which the harbour appears to afford capabilities.

The original Grant Fund of 50,000 l. may be said to be virtually exhausted, only 968 l. 2 s. 7 d. remaining disposable; at the same time we are aware of various applications for objects deserving of support, in addition to those already before your Lordships, which will be made, should there be a renewal of this Fund.

In

In cases of Grants, the direct management of the operation is vested in this Board; and we have taken the opportunity to endeavour to raise the character of the Irish labourer in matters connected with work, by stimulating industrious feelings, and improving them in skill, arrangement, and in a knowledge of the best description of tools.

It has been frequently remarked, and with perfect truth, that the labourer in most parts of the interior of Ireland shows a want of energy; that he has a rude and imperfect description of tools, and no sufficient knowledge of advantageous modes of turning the exertions which he is obliged to make, to the most useful account.

But it is not true, as is also sometimes asserted, that this want of energy arises from a natural defect of character, that inclines him like the sloth to labour only to the extent necessary to procure the most wretched diet, with which he is satisfied.

The result of the state of society in Ireland may lead a cursory observer to that conclusion; it too often happens that the peasant is reduced in circumstances to the extent of being burdened with a heavy debt in the shape of arrears for rent, which cannot by possibility be paid from the profits of his small holding; the consequence is, that any extra exertion would be thrown away so far as his own personal advantage is concerned, and therefore an inactivity arises which, from being very general, will pervade portions of a similar class who may not be absolutely in the same destitute state.

But when roused by fair opportunities being laid before them and explained, we find that those who can profit by them are perfectly willing to do so, the earnings of labourers at low prices of task-work frequently being double those of the day labourer at the usual wages; nor can we by any means doubt that by a more general introduction of such opportunities the Irish labourers will become fully equal to the same class in England, and for the same remuneration will do the same quantity of work; we deem it however bad policy to put them off with inferior remuneration. We see no reason why labour is to be necessarily cheap in Ireland; that is, more so than the proportional fair value of provisions, of rent, &c. will reasonably admit; nor do we believe that it is so in fact to so great a degree as would appear; the habit of giving low wages leads to inferior exertions, and to but little efforts being made to improve in system; the labourer is degraded, while the employer himself obtains very little advantage.

We have with these views, and to give a trial to different modes of proceeding, in some instances formed establishments and carried on the works by day labour and small contracts; the result has been to create in such cases, we believe, some degree of increased expense, but it has led to more satisfaction to the workmen, and to improve their condition, as well as their moral feeling with regard to employment, and to a much better understanding of improved mechanical means and their application.

It has not, however, been thought right at once to introduce high rates of wages, first, because the workmen could not then immediately be in a state to earn them; and, secondly, because a sudden extensive innovation of the kind would derange all the ordinary proceedings in the country.

II.—THE COLLECTION OF REPAYMENTS OF OLD LOANS MADE FROM THE CONSOLIDATED FUND, UNDER THE ACT OF 57 GEO. III. AND OTHERS.

These repayments are made in general with regularity; a few, on which the security of prospective tolls have completely failed, show an increasing deficiency, by the amount of accumulating interest.

III.—INLAND NAVIGATION.

Comprehending the Tyrone, a small branch canal communication from a coal district to Lough Neagh.

The Maig, an off-branch from the Lower Shannon.

The Upper Shannon, Lough Ree, and Lough Dergh.

And the Boyne, from Slane to Drogheda.

The two former are very small, occasioning but little expense, and producing less income.

The Tyrone navigation, however, is of some interest to the country, and the Maig is limited to a cut and a swivel bridge for the Government road which crosses it.

The Upper Shannon is simply maintained in a passable state; its general improvement, which is much wanted, will be eventually proceeded with, it is hoped, under the operations of the Commission for the whole of that river, organized under the provisions of the 5 & 6 Will. 4, c. 67.

The works on the Boyne Navigation, consisting of details of improvement to the working parts, have been continued during the year; the canals have been cleansed throughout of the mud which had accumulated therein, and brought to a proper navigable depth; the weirs have been reformed and substantially repaired as well as the locks, in which stone sills and pavement have been substituted for the former decayed and perishable wooden sills and floors; new lock-gates with improved machinery have been set up where required, and in other cases the gates have received a thorough repair; a guard lock has been erected on one of the levels, to regulate the water in time of flood, in place of a check-gate of obsolete design, which in high water occasioned frequent delay and inconvenience; the trackways and retaining walls also have been repaired, raised and strengthened. The cost of these Works has been defrayed from funds which will be repaid by the tolls.

IV.—FISHERIES.

A Commission has been investigating the state of the Fisheries of Ireland, during the whole of the last year.

They have drawn up a Report, accompanied by a variety of Evidence and documents connected with this interesting subject; the printing of the latter, however, was not quite completed up to the period of this Report.

Our functions as a Fishery Board are nearly inoperative, the existing Acts of Parliament being inapplicable to their being exercised with much degree of utility; and except in three cases, where we have interfered at the request of the parties interested, to frame regulations respecting trammel fishing, we have not exercised the powers that appear to be vested in us.

Bealadangan.

In a former Report (that for the year 1833) we alluded to works of improvement which might be accomplished at comparatively small expense, but which in their effects would be of great importance to the Fishery and Coasting Trade; the west of Ireland particularly abounds in situations of this description. On that occasion we dwelt at some length upon the hardships, inconvenience and risk attendant upon navigating the Pass of Bealadangan in the county of Galway, the only means of communication, without encountering the Western Ocean, for boats from the remote parts of Galway Bay, between the islands of Garomna, Littermore, &c. and the main land, and which could then only be passed for a short time at and near high-water.

Toward

Towards the close of the year 1835, having reason to believe that a small fund at the disposal of the Government for the relief of distress in the west of Ireland was not quite exhausted, we recommended to the Lord Lieutenant the opening of the Pass of Bealadangan as a work which would greatly tend to the benefit and relief of a poor class of men, be the means of saving lives and property, and add security to a prolific source of industry. His Excellency was pleased readily to adopt the suggestion, and caused the sum of 700 l. to be advanced to us, to be applied in the execution of the work.

We have now the satisfaction to report that during the last season this object was undertaken and carried into successful and complete effect: the rocks which stood in the sailing course have been removed, and in consequence, the navigation, instead of the impediment to which it was formerly subject, to the extent of being dangerous at all times, is now clear from half-flood to half-ebb, or at least for such periods of every tide (easily ascertained) as are suited to the draft of water of the vessels which make use of it; a quay has been formed which has already been attended with very beneficial effects in facilitating the transactions of business. The small boats of the country, when not engaged in fishing, are employed in bringing turf and sea-weed (for which there is a great demand at, and in the neighbourhood of Galway) to this quay, to which the hookers and larger vessels resort to purchase and take in their cargoes, instead of proceeding to more remote places for their collection, thus dividing the labour and the trade, and working upon a regular principle.

In addition to the great improvement which has been effected in the navigation, a very important advantage has been obtained for the inhabitants of the islands, about 3,000 in number, by the construction of a regular paved roadway across the Lower Pass. Hitherto, from the rugged inequality of the sharp pointed rocks, with intervening holes of unequal depth, the difficulty of using this their only crossing place was great and attended with much danger, as well to human beings as to the sheep and cattle, which can now be driven with ease and safety to the fairs and markets held at the neighbouring towns on the main land.

The principal part of the improvement has been effected by blasting rocks with gunpowder, and it is highly gratifying to be enabled to state that we have not to lament the occurrence of a single accident during its progress.

The cost of this work has not amounted to quite 500*l. but it will be necessary to erect beacons to point out the sailing channel, which is somewhat indirect, to the purchase and setting up of which the balance of the fund will be applied.

* See Supplemental Account, p. 40.

We are bound to acknowledge the valuable assistance and cordial co-operation afforded to us by the Coast Guard Department, in opening the Bealadangan Pass, without which it would have been more costly and embarrassing, as it would have been very difficult to carry on the work in a district so remote, and not easily accessible by ordinary means; here as well as in other situations where work has been set on foot, with the view of relieving distress, the local officers of the Preventive Coast Guard have given a most efficient aid with zeal and alacrity.

We have dwelt upon this subject at greater length than the limited extent of the work may perhaps be considered to justify; but it serves to illustrate how works of this kind, affording not merely a present local benefit, but effecting a valuable permanent improvement, combined with the opening of road communications in wild and uncultivated districts, are objects upon which the labour of the people can be sometimes applied with very great advantage in those parts of the country in which famine and distress are matters of such frequent occurrence.

The Plans marked 1 & 2 in the Appendix particularly show the improvements which have been made at Bealadangan.

In the course of the last summer distress to a very considerable extent prevailed in part of the county of Donegal, particularly in the neighbourhood of the sea coast on the north-west shore. His Excellency the Lord Lieutenant was pleased to appropriate a sum of money to the purchase of meal and potatoes to be applied to the relief of the inhabitants, by paying them in provisions for their labour, applied to the construction of short branch roads in that wild uncultivated district. At the instance of Government we * sent gentlemen from this department, with two experienced overseers, to lay out and superintend the works in question, in conducting which service they had the advantage of the assistance of the officers and men of the Preventive Coast Guard in the neighbourhood of their respective stations.

The operations were necessarily confined to earth work of an easy character, such as draining and forming, and the result was

The making of new roads - - - -	2,021 perches.
And repairing of old roads - - - -	2,210 „
	4,231 perches.

Or upwards of 13 statute miles; which objects (not including the pay of superintendent and overseers) were effected by the dispensation of about 47 tons of meal, the computed value of which was something under 650 l.; and relief was thereby afforded (including gratuitous assistance to the sick, helpless and infirm) to nearly 40,000 persons. Besides the expenditure and employment effected through the immediate agency of this department, relief was also afforded by Government in the same quarter through the instrumentality of other Government Departments.

V.—ROADS AND BRIDGES.

The Government Roads (that is, those which have been made wholly or in part at the public expense, under various Acts of Parliament) continue to increase in number by the working of the Small Grant Fund, which is almost entirely expended in that particular kind of work.

They are maintained by this Board; and the expense is subsequently repaid by the counties. We have every reason to believe that they conduce to a very great benefit to the country, as we have before reported, as well by their first construction as by this system of maintenance.

The temporary Post-road Act (4 & 5 Will. 4, c. 91), empowering the Postmaster-general to require this Board to repair any roads on which the mails travel, which shall be in a state to delay or impede that service, expired at the end of the last session; but its provisions were renewed and made permanent in the amended Grand Jury Act (6 & 7 Will. 4, c. 116).

A great deal of detailed road-work is executed under that authority, through the agency of the county surveyors. The resource has been particularly useful, when, by accident or informality, provision has not been made for the maintenance of important communications in the usual mode.

VI.—THE PUBLIC BUILDINGS IN DUBLIN AND PHŒNIX PARK.

Progress has been made towards bringing the apartments at Dublin Castle, and the furniture thereof, into an improved and suitable condition; some expense has been incurred in adapting offices in the Treasury Buildings to the use of the new constabulary and other branches of service which have required official accommodation there. A new cavalry guard-house has been erected in the lower Castle-yard, which was very much required, and forms part of a plan of improvement the remainder of which is included in the estimate for the next year. An old screen-wall, with some low buildings, have been removed from the back of the Castle, and a new wall erected instead, corresponding, in architectural character, with the tower, &c., adjoining.

The new Nisi Prius and Rolls Court are in an advanced state, and are expected to be fully completed early in the summer. The nature of these additions is shown on a plan annexed to our last Report.

We

We are about to erect new Offices for the Masters in Chancery, and a Court for the Judge in cases of Bankruptcy. In these matters we act in concert with the Honourable Society of Benchers of the King's Inns, who are best able to judge of the nature and extent of accommodation required.

VII.—DUNMORE HARBOUR.

Considerable progress has been made, during the last year, in the reformation of the sea-pavement, which has been carried to within about 100 feet of the head of the Pier; but the most exposed, and consequently the most difficult, part remains to be done; and as only a limited number of workmen can be employed upon it, its progress will necessarily be slow.

The balance remaining unexpended of the funds provided for this service amounts to 5,200 l., which, it is expected, will be sufficient for completing the work as originally proposed.

VIII.—KINGSTOWN HARBOUR.

A Return in the Appendix will show the continued utility of this Harbour, chiefly for vessels wind-bound, waiting for tide, or taking shelter in tempestuous weather.

A populous neighbourhood is rapidly accumulating round it; for the supply of which the Port must become, by degrees, of much more extended commercial resort than it has been hitherto, which will still further add to the advantages of its construction.

Working drawings for finishing the Pier-heads are under the consideration of the same contractors who execute the other Harbour Works; and if an agreement which we shall consider reasonable can be made with them, that important operation will be commenced in the spring.

A portion of the shore within the Piers, which it was very desirable should belong to the Harbour, was occupied by a battery, rendered unnecessary for defence. This has been purchased from the Board of Ordnance; and also some small plots of ground required for quarrying and other purposes.

Since our last Report a new Act of Parliament, 6 & 7 Will. 4, c. 117, has been passed, vesting this Harbour permanently in Commissioners to be appointed by the Lord Lieutenant, authorizing the making of bye-laws and regulations that have been greatly wanted since the Port has been so much frequented, and the application to the Harbour purposes of the tolls and dues (heretofore paid to the Ballast Board of Dublin and others), which it was considered might be reasonably collected for the accommodation afforded.

IX.—HOWTH HARBOUR.

Since our last annual Report, Howth Harbour, and the road from it to Dublin, has been given over by the Woods and Forests department to the charge of this Board.

The gradual accumulation of sand towards the mouth of the Harbour, and the removal of the Holyhead packets, for that and other considerations, have rendered it inexpedient to continue to incur any heavy expenditure for its maintenance. The resident establishment has been broken up; and the object now is merely to prevent dilapidation, and to apply such repairs as, at a small cost, may prevent the accelerated ruin which would take place, were it entirely neglected: it is still valuable as a place of great resort for fishing vessels, which, at certain seasons of the year, frequent it in considerable numbers.

X.—LUNATIC ASYLUMS.

We last year stated that we were about to propose the heads of a Bill to amend and modify the Act of the 2d Geo. 4, c. 33, so as to admit of an extension of accommodation, and of other useful alterations suggested by experience; but as it appeared, from the Report of the Commissioners of Poor Inquiry, that all Asylums and Charitable Establishments are proposed to be consolidated under the Poor Law Commissioners, we have not followed up the subject, assuming that such matters of detail will be duly considered in framing the enactments under which the system of poor laws is to be worked.

We have the honour to be
Your Lordships' most obedient humble servants,

J. F. BURGOYNE.
BROOK T. OTTLEY.
J. RADCLIFF.

483.

18	In aid of road from Donegal to Pettigoe	2,340	2	6	1,000	–	–	- - This line of road is proceeding in a very satisfactory manner, superior to contract work in general. In the construction of this road much attention has been paid to its performance in a workmanlike manner, without regard to the cost. The greater part of it is over a deep bog, through a portion of the country very thinly inhabited; its utility will consequently be considerable, as opening a district heretofore inaccessible from want of roads, as well as forming a short line of communication between Donegal and Enniskillen.

24	In aid of a bridge over the sound at Kenmare, county Kerry	3,000	–	–	500	–	–	- - A quarry has been opened and some preparatory steps taken; but the offers for the execution of the work have, up to the present time, exceeded the funds provided, one half of which arises from a munificent contribution from the Marquis of Lansdowne. Grand jury, co. Limerick.	- - Repairs part of road from Limerick to Nenagh, through Montpelier.	285 19 6	- - This application was not complied with, in consequence of the smallness of the sum not being considered worthy of a loan to be repaid by instalments, and that the work was for repairs only.
Rev. Charles Vignoles, D. D.	- - For erecting buildings for the accommodation of persons frequenting the fair of Killavelley, co. Westmeath.	450 - -	- - The object not comprehended in the provisions of the Public Works Act.
Earl of Arran and others.	- - In addition to former grant for road from Donegal to Pettigoe, for the improvement of the levels.	300 - -	- - This was an application for a grant for giving this work (vide Grant No. 18) a superior character to that contemplated under the provision for Grants. At the same time the gentlemen interested in this road, and who have contracted for its execution, deserve great credit for their contributions, and the way in which the work has been executed.
Grand jury, co. Cork.	- - Road from Glengarriff to Bantry.	1,935 - -	- - The Commissioners did not think themselves justified in recommending a grant of a full moiety; but it is hoped that the county will renew their application in a form that may be acceded to.

COMMISSION.

WILLIAM the FOURTH, by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith, &c.

To Our trusty and well-beloved Thomas Drummond, Esq., Under Secretary of Our State in that part of Our United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland called Ireland; John Fox Burgoyne, Esquire, Colonel in Our Army; Peter Barlow, Esquire, Professor of Mathematics in Our Royal Military Academy at Woolwich; Richard Griffith, Esquire, greeting. WHEREAS an humble Address has been presented to Us by the Lords Spiritual and Temporal in Parliament assembled, requesting that We would be graciously pleased to appoint persons of competent authority to consider and report upon the principal Lines of Communication in Ireland, with reference to the comparative advantages and facilities they afford for the construction of Railways, and that with a view to ascertain the best Lines between any of the Principal Places in Ireland which it may be advisable to connect by Railways, and for which works Joint Stock Companies may be willing hereafter to apply to Parliament, We would be graciously pleased to direct such assistance to be afforded by the Board of Public Works towards a general Survey of such Lines as to us might seem fit. Now KNOW YE, that We, reposing great trust and confidence in your zeal and ability, have authorised and appointed, and do by these Presents authorise and appoint you, the said Thomas Drummond, John Fox Burgoyne, Peter Barlow, and Richard Griffith, or any two or more of you, to be Our Commissioners for the purposes aforesaid. AND Our Will and Pleasure is, that you consider, first, as to a General System for Railways in Ireland, in such manner, either by causing Surveys to be made of the Leading Lines, or otherwise, as may best serve to guide the Legislature in the consideration of the projects that may be brought before it. Secondly, as to the best mode of directing the development of said new and important means of intercourse to the channels whereby the greatest advantages may be obtained by the smallest outlay, taking into consideration not only the existing means which the country presents, but those which may be anticipated from the resources which may in future be developed. Thirdly, that you should make Inquiry as to the Port or Ports on the West or South Coast, from whence the Navigation to America may be best carried on by Steam or Sailing Vessels; and that you should investigate particularly the Facilities for the construction of Lines of Railroad across Ireland to such port or ports in connexion with the greatest possible collateral benefits to internal communications. AND, fourthly, that you should inquire into all such other matters as may appear to You essential to the useful prosecution and result of your investigations. AND for the purpose of enabling you, Our said Commissioners, to form a sound judgment on the premises, We do hereby authorise and empower you, or any two or more of you, to obtain information thereupon, by the examination of all persons whom you may judge most competent, by reason of their situation, knowledge, or experience, to afford it, and also by calling for all documents, papers, and returns, which may appear to you, or any two or more of you, calculated to assist your researches. AND We do also give and grant unto you, or any two or more of you, full Power and Authority, when the same shall appear to be requisite, to administer an oath or oaths to any person or persons whatsoever to be examined before you, or any two or more of you, touching or concerning the premises. AND We do hereby command and require you, or any three of you, to report to us in writing, under your hands and seals, on or before the 10th day of April, or sooner, if the same can reasonably be, your several proceedings, by virtue of this Our Commission, together with your opinions on the several matters which you are hereby required to take into your consideration. AND We will and command that this Our Commission shall continue in full force and virtue, and that you Our said Commissioners, or any two or more of you, may from time to time proceed in the execution thereof, and of every matter and thing therein contained, although the same be not continued from time to time by adjournment. AND We hereby command all and singular Our Justices of the Peace, Sheriffs, Mayors, Bailiffs, Constables, Officers, Ministers, and all others Our loving subjects whatsoever, as well within our liberties as without, that they be assistant to you and each of you in the execution of all these Presents. AND further, We do hereby appoint our trusty and well-beloved Harry David Jones, Esq., Captain in Our Army, to be Secretary to this Our Commission, whose service and assistance We require you to use from time to time, as occasion may require. In witness whereof, We have caused these Our Letters to be made Patent.

Witness Ourself at Westminster, the 20th day of October, in the Seventh Year of Our Reign.

By Writ of Privy Seal,

(Signed) EDMUNDS.

FIRST REPORT.

TO THE KING'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY,
&c., &c., &c.

WE, the undersigned Commissioners appointed by your Majesty, under date the 28th day of October, 1836, to inquire into the manner in which Railway Communications can be most advantageously promoted in Ireland, humbly beg to lay before your Majesty this our First Report, which we present thus early in obedience to your Majesty's commands.

We regret that, notwithstanding the strenuous efforts which we have used, we cannot, at the present moment, enter into such details, or furnish such documents, as would enable others to form a judgment on the measures which, in our opinion, it might be desirable to sanction in reference to this very important subject. We have, however, collected a great mass of information which we are arranging; and we believe that the principles on which we are pursuing this Inquiry will lead to practical and beneficial results.

When the very great importance of the matter submitted to our investigation—the valuable and, in many instances, conflicting interests which it involves—and the vast public injury which would arise from a false step at the commencement of a system that may produce a total change in the internal communication of this country—are considered, we are persuaded that the inconvenience of a short delay will be deemed preferable to the hazard we should run of recommending, upon an incomplete view of the subject, plans or projects which we might afterwards see reason to modify or alter. We hope to be able to terminate our Inquiry and to present a full Report in time to admit of the Legislature coming to a decision, during the present Session, on the measures which it may be desirable to sanction.

We proceed to explain the course which we have pursued, and, in some degree, the progress which we have made in this investigation.

In commencing our proceedings, we looked at the country with reference to the amount, distribution, and employment of its population; to the extent and value of its traffic, and the channels through which that traffic is at present carried on; to the size and position of its principal towns; their present communication; the number of public conveyances, and of the passengers that now travel by them. We looked at the country in reference to its physical features, and the facilities and impediments which these offer to the construction of Railways: and also to the comparative fertility of soil; the present produce; and the capability of improvement of its several districts.

On all these points we took immediate steps to collect the most accurate information which could be obtained from existing documents, public departments, and from those private individuals who possessed peculiar means of knowledge through the nature of their pursuits and occupations.

The Customs and Excise have afforded us valuable assistance; the Chairmen of both Boards having directed their Officers to prepare certain Returns relative to the trade of the country, which we shall be able to give in our Second Report. We have likewise been much assisted by the Constabulary, who, under the directions of Colonel Shaw Kennedy, have procured for us much useful information respecting the inland traffic in most parts of Ireland. It is due to many intelligent individuals of that service to bear our testimony to the zeal and efficiency with which the inquiries intrusted to them have been prosecuted. We have also received, in answer to circulars addressed to persons engaged in trade, some valuable communications; and in those places and on those points where accuracy was most important, we have employed individuals accustomed to statistical inquiries to verify and extend the information obtained through these various channels.

With regard to the number of passengers travelling by coaches and cars, Returns are preparing under the direction of the Post-Office, and by Messrs. Purcell, Bourne, and Bianconi, the principal proprietors of public conveyances in Ireland. These Returns will be useful, not merely as exhibiting the existing intercourse, but as exemplifying, particularly by the experience of Mr. Bianconi, the proprietor of a very extensive establishment of stage-cars in the south of Ireland, the increase of intercourse which follows increased facility and diminished expense of communication.

At the commencement of our Inquiry, the want of a map of Ireland on which lines might be laid down with some degree of accuracy, offered a very serious impediment to our progress. There did not exist any on which the relative positions of leading towns, still less of inferior objects, were marked with the precision which our purpose required; and as to the features of the country, the delineation of them was, for the most part, extremely incorrect, often purely fanciful. This would have occasioned very considerable embarrassment, and increased the expense, as well as prolonged the period of our inquiry, had not the deficiency been supplied through the active co-operation of the Ordnance Survey Department for Ireland, under Colonel Colby. The survey of nine counties out of the thirty-two has been completed, and that of several others is in a state of forwardness. Colonel Colby, at our request, caused a diagram to be made of the whole of Ireland from the great triangulation, and a map to be compiled from the already completed portion of the Ordnance survey, and the best county maps which could be obtained. Many of these maps are extremely defective and inaccurate, particularly in shewing the relative positions of the towns; but this material imperfection has, in a great measure, been removed by means of the fixed points of the great triangulation.

The preparation of the map was intrusted to Lieutenant Larcom of the Royal Engineers, by whose unremitting exertions and ability the object has been effected; and we are now in possession of a map of Ireland far superior to any hitherto constructed, and which, even for general purposes, will be a most valuable acquisition to the public, during the period that will intervene before the Ordnance survey shall be completed. The labour and energy required to complete such a task in so short a time can be appreciated only by those who are conversant with the nature of similar operations.

Mr. Griffith's unpublished Geological Map of Ireland—a copy of which will accompany our next Report—has proved very useful and interesting in the prosecution of our inquiries.

The great limestone districts form one of the mostmportant and characteristic features of this country. Besides indicating superior fertility of soil, they present universally the greatest facilities to the engineer. Being generally free from elevated ridges of ground, they present peculiarly favourable levels, and furnish excellent materials for the construction of works. Hence, in addition to the knowledge which this map affords of the geological structure and mineral products of the country, it has been of material assistance to us in pointing out those rich and populous districts which it would be at once most desirable and most easy to traverse by Railways.

In order to ascertain how far the objects which we had in view might be promoted by the previous inquiries of others, we applied for and have obtained plans and reports explanatory of the several projects which have been as yet brought before the public. We have also had the benefit of personal explanations from such of the engineers and principal promoters of those undertakings as we could meet with in Dublin.

As the investigation proceeded, we were enabled gradually, and, as we trust, on just and sure grounds, to determine the limits within which the principal lines of Railway should, in our opinion, be confined. And we then directed a detailed and particular examination to the districts contained within those limits.

We have been able to avail ourselves of the services of two eminent engineers, Mr. Vignolles and Mr. M'Neil, a statement of whose proceedings shall accompany our next Report. These gentlemen have been for some time employed in ascertaining, by local examination, how far our propositions are practicable,—in what degree they are adapted to the attainment of our objects,—and whether or not it might be desirable to alter or modify them in any respect. Their inquiries on many points have been brought to a close, and they have made considerable progress towards completing what remains of the task assigned to them.

We are also pursuing a course of inquiry with regard to the principles which should be observed in the construction of Railways. We shall endeavour to distinguish between those which ought to be enforced by legislative enactment, and those which might be left to the fancy or sagacity of the Directors and Managers of Companies.

Our consideration has been directed to the effects of gradients and curves, of the width of the lines, of the weight and strength of the rails, and of various other details of construction; effects which have not as yet been clearly ascertained, but on which the stability and economy of these works greatly depend, and which must materially influence the return on the capital to be expended in future undertakings of this kind. On all these points there can be little doubt that much knowledge yet remains to be acquired from future experience. But much has been already learned since the opening of the Liverpool and Manchester line, and many improvements have been introduced tending in part to increase the permanency of the works, and in part calculated to diminish the general expenditure. It shall be our endeavour to collect these important practical results, in the hope of aiding the progress of improvement in the construction and working of future Railways.

We have also on this subject communicated with the principal Railway Companies in England, and it is but justice to the directors and managers of those Companies to acknowledge the readiness with which they have answered our inquiries, and the valuable information and many useful suggestions which we have received from them.

In obedience to your Majesty's commands, we have entered into the examination of a very important and interesting question,—the establishing of a steam communication with America from the West or South West coast of Ireland.

In the present state of steam navigation, a voyage to New York from any part of Great Britain has been considered by many to be beyond the range of a steam vessel; whilst others are of opinion that such a voyage, though perhaps impracticable from Great Britain, might be effected from the Western coast of Ireland; and that, so far as regards passengers and the transmission of letters and light goods, such an intercourse might be established and conducted with great advantage. We are aware that steam vessels of a large size are now fitting out at Liverpool and Bristol for the purpose of attempting the direct voyage to New York; and we shall abstain at present from expressing an opinion on the relative advantages of different ports; but shall merely observe, that we have looked at the question as regards Ireland, thus, admitting that it is found advantageous to start from a port as far to the Westward as possible—in what direction and to what port should the Railway for effecting this object traverse Ireland? In this view of the question, the main consideration would be a rapid and convenient transit to the port of embarkation; and to that object the means which such a line would afford, of increasing internal traffic, must be regarded as altogether subordinate. But on the other hand, reversing the supposition, and regarding the promotion of inland intercourse as the primary, and the establishing a steam navigation with America as a secondary and perhaps remote object,—what line would for such a purpose be deemed the most eligible? If we have succeeded in coming to just conclusions on both these points, we shall be enabled to say whether the two purposes might not be essentially attained through the medium of one common line.

In pursuance of our instructions, we have also considered in what manner the most rapid and certain communication between London and Dublin might be effected. We are not as yet in possession of sufficient information respecting the different projects advanced for accomplishing this object, to venture an opinion on their relative merits. All Railway projects in Ireland will of course be greatly promoted by the establishment of such a communication, but advantageous intercourse with America by steam from the West coast of Ireland cannot be contemplated without it.

Having thus explained the course which we have followed, and, to a certain extent, the progress we have made, we proceed to lay before your Majesty some of the general opinions which we have formed during this investigation.

The first and most important conclusion at which we have arrived is, that the intercourse in Ireland is not at present, nor is likely, for many years to come, to be of that constant and active kind which would justify the expectation that Railways spread over the country in distinct lines from town to town, would prove remunerative undertakings. In that respect we fear they would be total failures; and unless remunerative, not only would such undertakings be directly injurious to the community, by the amount of capital taken out of productive circulation, but the losses and disappointments of those embarking in them could scarcely fail to occasion a general want of confidence, which would greatly impede, if it did not prove altogether fatal to the most legitimate and well founded enterprises.*

Deeply impressed with this conviction, we would humbly but earnestly suggest that the most searching inquiry should be made into the grounds on which these separate Companies rest their hopes of success, before they obtain the sanction of the Legislature. We believe that in the greater number of instances the most important public objects which they all profess might be accomplished at a much less expenditure of capital, and at a very moderate sacrifice of time and space, as regards individual places, by a well-combined and judicious system of Railways, in which the joint traffic of many places and districts should be made to pass to a great extent over one common line, and where the greatest general accommodation should be attained at the smallest outlay. We shall not say that such a system alone can be profitable; but we do assert, without fear of contradiction, that, looking to the present circumstances of this country, it affords by far the most reasonable hope of a fair return on the capital expended. If economy of expenditure is necessary in England, it is indispensable in Ireland, where capital is less abundant, intercourse more languid, and traffic less active.

There are also circumstances peculiar to Railways worked by locomotive steam-engines which impose an additional necessity for circumspection. On Railways where animal power is the motive agent, the profit will be nearly proportioned to the traffic; but where steam is employed small weights are moved at a great and ruinous expenditure of power, and it is not till the traffic becomes very considerable that the use of steam becomes profitable, and it is only when the intercourse is active and abundant that the superiority and economy of steam are fully experienced. We believe that the contemplation of its wonder-working power under such circumstances has caused the disadvantages of using it in less favourable cases to be very much overlooked. Hence the importance and necessity of endeavouring to devise a system that shall combine and concentrate the traffic and intercourse of many places. A small increase of distance adds but little to the expense of conveyance, and when the transit is rapid, still less to the time.

The selection of such great public lines ought not to be left to private parties or Companies. There are many interests involved demanding the most impartial consideration; and it is not by selecting a line to some large town, and conferring upon it the imposing title of a Grand Trunk line that the object for which we are contending is to be accomplished. We are not insensible to the danger of fettering commercial enterprise; but parties who promise benefits, and seek privileges in return, have no reason to complain if their capability of fulfilling their engagements to the public be rigidly scrutinized. And further, if the inquiry be pursued with a view to determine whether the promised advantages may not be obtainable at a less expenditure of the national capital than in the manner which they propose, sufficient is known of the mode in which many Railway schemes are got up, to justify the adoption of every precaution to protect the country against those which it may be profitable to speculators to project, but ruinous to shareholders to execute.

The past history of public works in this country is not calculated to excite any very sanguine expectation on the part of the speculative capitalist. Instead of being referred to as encouraging examples of successful enterprise, they can only be pointed out as beacons to warn him against embarking in similar undertakings.

It is because an opportunity now offers of removing the injurious impression produced by these failures, and of introducing a system of communication capable of conferring, under due precautions, vast benefit on this country. It is because we are strongly impressed with the conviction that a false step at the commencement might deprive the country for many years to come of advantages now within its reach; and because, in regard to this important matter, we dread the consequence of indulging in extravagant expectations, and of rushing into inconsiderate speculations—that we would humbly but most earnestly express a hope that the sanction of the Legislature may not be given to any great line of Railway in Ireland till the most careful inquiry has shown that the statements of its promoters are grounded on sound views and accurate data, and that of all others it is the best adapted to effect the public objects for which it is proposed, and the most likely to afford a profitable return on the capital expended in its execution.

But whilst we recommend the utmost caution in deciding upon individual projects, we would also humbly represent to your Majesty the necessity of affording peculiar encouragement to the prosecution of Public Works in Ireland.

The great natural capabilities which the country presents, the little exertion that has yet been made either from public or private sources to develope them, the amount of the population so far exceeding the ordinary demand for labour, and, on that account, exposed to periodical sufferings of the most harrowing and deplorable description—are circumstances fully ascertained and acknowledged. It would appear, therefore, just and reasonable, whether regarded as a question of policy or of duty, that while effective means are taken to check and avoid deceptive speculations and needless expenditure, every possible aid and facility, consistent with prudence and the interest of the United Kingdom, should be extended to public undertakings, the utility of which shall have been clearly established.

Among the obstacles which an enterprise, such as we are immediately considering, must encounter at the very commencement, are, the delay interposed, and the enormous outlay that must take place before even a spade can be put into the ground towards its execution. This delay and expenditure are at present unavoidable; for they arise in a great degree from the provisions of the new Standing Orders in Parliament, which must, in every instance, be strictly and fully complied with.

The Legislature has deemed it right to require plans to be lodged, and notices, to a very great extent, to be served; and when these directions have been observed, an interval of twelve months must afterwards elapse before application can be made for leave to bring in a Railway Bill. The Standing Orders which relate to these objects were framed chiefly with a view to the protection of the owners and occupiers of property likely to be affected by such undertakings. But there are few establishments in Ireland which could be injured by the operation of such works, whilst property in general, and more especially that in their immediate neighbourhood, far from being deteriorated, would be greatly increased in value. We therefore humbly suggest that it may be desirable to examine whether some of those Standing Orders might not be relaxed, simplified, or dispensed with, as far as regards the introduction of Bills for Ireland.

In the progress of this inquiry, our attention has been directed to the manner in which Railway Bills are prepared, and to the great inconvenience and expense which arise from their length and complexity. It would tend much to remove this objection if all the provisions which are common to every measure of this kind, and, in fact, constitute the general principles on which it is the manifest intention of the Legislature uniformly to ground its enactments with regard to Railways, were embodied in one general Act, applicable to every case. If this were done, a Bill for a particular Railway would only be required to set forth its own specific features and provisions, which might be contained within a very small compass; and thus, not only would legislation on these subjects be rendered much more simple, but the preliminary expenses, which now fall so heavily on the projectors, would be greatly reduced.

Having now pointed out the advantages which might naturally be expected to result from the encouragement of well-founded enterprizes of this kind in Ireland, it is right that we should advert, on the other hand, to the protection which the public would be entitled to demand against abuse of the power usually conferred on private Railway Companies.

It is manifest that wherever this superior mode of intercourse shall be established, it will supersede all others, both as a conveyance for passengers and with respect to many other most important purposes. A monopoly will consequently be established, as far as those purposes are concerned; and hence great evils may arise from committing, without control, the management and regulation of Railroads to the power and discretion of individuals or Companies, whose chief consideration would be their own private profit and advantage.

Among the most obvious of the evils to be apprehended we may enumerate the following:—

1stly,—The charges might be exorbitant.

2ndly,—The speed might be reduced to a rate not much surpassing that of ordinary road travelling.

3rdly,—The passengers might be exposed in various ways to inconveniences and irregularities; such as uncertainty as to hours, delays on the road, and vexatious or rude treatment.

4thly,—The carriages might be neglected and uncomfortable, and the road kept in an imperfect, or even dangerous, condition.

5thly,—The interest and accommodation of branch lines might be sacrificed, or at least postponed, to those of the main line.

These evils might not be all present together on any one line; but it is probable that they would, in a greater or less degree, be felt and experienced in all.

Another, and very important, consideration is, that the power given to Railway Companies places the service of the mails entirely at their discretion. There is nothing to prevent their securing, in their respective lines, a great part of the revenue of the Post-Office; for the letters must be carried by them, and they might exact what terms they pleased in the existing state of the law.

Competition, the usual corrective of such abuses, can, in these cases, be rarely resorted to; and although Managers and Directors of Companies, who took an enlightened view of their duty to the public, or even of their own interests, would not suffer them to exist to any great degree, yet we fear that it would not be safe to trust entirely to such motives for protection; and hence it becomes important to consider by what means these evils may be guarded against, without imposing injurious restrictions on private enterprise.

In Ireland, where Railway communication must, for a length of time, be restricted to a few main lines, such protection would be indispensable. We shall endeavour, in a subsequent Report, to offer some suggestions towards effecting this very desirable object.

In concluding these observations, we humbly beg to assure your Majesty that we shall continue to pursue our inquiry with unremitting diligence. We regret that our researches being only in progress, our materials imperfectly collected, and our opinions on many points not sufficiently matured, it has not been possible for us to do more in this Preliminary Report, than indicate the course of investigation which we are following. We are fully sensible that the subject is one which requires to be treated with great caution and deliberation. Aware of the extensive interests at stake, and of the anxiety with which our Final Report is looked for by many of the parties engaged in or affected by these speculations, we shall spare no pains to forward our inquiry; and we venture to express a confident hope that we shall be able to complete our Final Report in the month of May. We could have wished that we had been at liberty to devote a much longer period to so important and intricate a subject; and we are deeply sensible of the many defects and omissions inseparable from the rapidity with which our proceedings have necessarily been conducted. We trust, however, that, by the time above-mentioned, we shall be able to lay down the lines which shall appear to be the best adapted to promote the great objects in question, and to complete the documents which may be necessary to enable those to whom your Majesty may refer the consideration of our Report, to judge of the recommendations which we shall venture to make, as well as of the opinions which, in obedience to your Majesty's command, we shall deem it our duty to express on the various projects now before the public.

We humbly submit this, our First Report, to your Majesty's consideration.

THE FOURTEENTH REPORT

Of the Commissioners of His Majesty's Woods, Forests, Land Revenues, Works and Buildings;

BEING

THE EIGHTH ANNUAL REPORT

OF

THE SAID COMMISSIONERS.

LEASES, &c. granted. Appendix, No. 1.

IN the Schedule, Appendix, No. 1, a List is given of Leases of Crown Property in England and Wales, granted between the 5th day of January 1836 and the 5th day of January last. Of the Property comprised in those Leases, the Annual Value, according to Surveys and Estimates made thereof, amounted to £. 1,348. 18., the clear yearly Rents reserved, to £. 1,349. 2., exclusive of the profits of the Manor there referred to, and also of the Royalties or Duty Rents in the Leases of Mines and Quarries of which part of the Property consisted, but including the Annual Sum of £. 51. 16., reserved as additional Rent in lieu of the Land Tax redeemed by the Crown on a portion of the Property; and for one of those Leases a Fine of £. 250 was paid to the Crown.

The Annual Value of such part of the said Property, as had been before in Lease, was certified to amount to £. 737. 14., when the last Leases were granted; the Rents, reserved thereby, amounted to £. 318. 3. 9., and the Fines paid to £. 787. 10., making an increase of the Annual Rent, under the new Leases, of £. 1,030. 18. 3., including the said additional Rent of £. 51. 16. reserved in lieu of redeemed Land Tax; but exclusive of the Profits of the Manor above referred to, and of the Royalties, or Duty Rents, payable for the Mines and Quarries comprised in the said Schedule. The Sum, however, received, in respect of Fines, on the granting of the former Leases, exceeded the above-mentioned Fine of £. 250, by the Sum of £. 537. 10.

Lease granted to a Trustee for the Crown. Appendix, No. 2.

IN the Appendix, No. 2, is contained an Account of a Lease granted, by Mr. Samuel Minton, to a Trustee for the Crown, of a piece of Land, with sundry Messuages, and other Buildings thereon, adjoining to the East side of the entrance to the Long Walk from Park-street, Windsor, of which it was deemed expedient, with the sanction of the Lords of the Treasury, for the Crown to acquire possession, for the purpose of causing the removal of the several Messuages, and other Buildings thereon, and improving the Entrance to the Long Walk, and obviating the unsightly appearance of those Buildings, opposite to the principal approach to Windsor Castle from the Long Walk, and from Windsor, and preventing the creation of Nuisances upon the said Land, in future. Endeavours were made to purchase, on behalf of the Crown, the Freehold of this Property;

 but

but the Owner declined to sell it, or to give to the Crown any other Interest in it, than is acquired by the said Lease, which, however, contains Clauses, giving, to the Lessee, power to take down the present, or any future Buildings, &c. upon the said Land, and to remove the Materials thereof, without being compellable to leave any Erections, or Buildings, thereon at the end of the Lease; by which the object of the Crown, in obtaining possession of this Property, as above mentioned, was attained.

SALES BY PUBLIC AUCTION. Appendix, No. 3.

THE APPENDIX, No. 3, contains a detailed Account of the Sales completed during the same period of Property, part of the Land Revenue of the Crown in England, which had been sold by Public Auction, comprising in all 32 Conveyances, and producing in the whole £.21,284. 2. 1.

The Annual Value of such of those Estates as had been before in Lease amounted, according to Surveys and Valuations made thereof when the last Leases were granted, to £.664. 7. 11., and the Rents reserved by the last Leases amounted to £.559. 12. 7., and the Fines to £.489. 13. 8.

BY PRIVATE CONTRACT. Appendix, No. 4.

IN APPENDIX, No. 4, is given an Account of Sales made of Lands and Premises by Private Contract during that Period, comprising in all 98 Conveyances, producing the sum of £.7,828. 7. 3. These Sales consisted principally of Encroachments on the Crown Wastes in Wales, which, for the reasons given in our last Report, were sold to the Parties who were considered entitled to the Preemption thereof, on very moderate Terms, not exceeding on an average one-fourth part of their actual Value.

The proceedings mentioned in our last Report as having been instituted under the advice of the Law Officers of the Crown, for the Recovery of Encroachments in one of the Manors in Radnorshire, have been brought to a close, the Cause having been tried on the 4th and 5th of August 1836 at Hereford, when a verdict was found for the Crown, upon which Judgment has been entered up, and possession obtained. The result of this Trial will doubtless tend to convince the Possessors of Encroachments, generally, as well on those Manors which have been sold, as on those which remain the Property of His Majesty, of the clear and indisputable rights of the Crown, and the Possessors of Encroachments on His Majesty's Manors will accordingly see the propriety and prudence of availing themselves of the offers which have been made to them on behalf of the Crown for the Confirmation of their Titles on the very moderate terms above adverted to.

SALES OF CROWN ESTATES.

IN our last Report we stated that we had made arrangements, under the sanction of the Board of Treasury, for the Sale by Auction of Three Estates belonging to the Crown; viz.

An Estate at Highbury, called Little St. John's Wood, containing 41 A. 3 R. 21 P. (exclusive of Ground set out for new Roads), late in Lease to James Walker, Esq., at a Rent of £. 193. 9. per Annum.

The Manor and Demesne Lands of Twickenham, containing 56 A. 0 R. 31 P., late in Lease to Messrs. Gapper and Reay, at a Rent of £. 395. 2. per Annum; and

The Manor and Demesne Lands of Newark, containing 973 A. 2 R. 23 P., lately held by the Duke of Newcastle upon Lease from the Crown, granted in 1806, on payment of a Fine of £. 2,567. 8., at a Rent of £. 2,026. 1. per Annum.

The

The first of those Estates was accordingly sold in Lots at the Auction Mart on the 6th of September last, and produced in all the Sum of £.4,595.

The Crown Estate at Twickenham, together with a small piece of Ground at Teddington, called the Broom Close, containing 9A. 3R. 19P., late in Lease to Joseph Cooper, Esq., at a Rent of £.28. 16. 6., was put up for Sale in Eighteen Lots, at the Auction Mart on the 13th of September last, of which, Fifteen Lots containing 42A. 3R. 7P. were sold, and produced in all the Sum of £.12,655, exclusive of the Value of the Timber thereon; the remaining Three Lots, containing 23A. 1R. 3P. were withdrawn from the Sale, no adequate offers having been made for the same, and were soon afterwards granted out on Lease at a Rent of £.70 per Annum.

The Newark Estate, exclusive of the Site and Ruins of the Old Castle, and the adjoining Bowling Green, which the Corporation and Inhabitants of Newark had requested might not be included in the Sale, were, with two small Estates in the neighbourhood, containing together 65A. 1R. 3P., then held on Leases which were nearly expired, at Rents amounting to £.80. 15. 6., accordingly advertised for Sale by Auction at Newark, on the 11th of October last, and the three following days; but as a further representation had been made to us by the principal Inhabitants, a few days only before the time fixed for the Sale, requesting that a Grant might be made to the Corporation of some small Parcels of Ground in the neighbourhood of the Castle for the purpose of forming Public Walks, Ornamental Gardens, and otherwise improving the Town of Newark, we agreed to withdraw those Lots from the Sale in order to afford the Corporation an opportunity of making an offer for them by Private Contract; and it was further agreed, as doubts had been started, whether the Lord of the Manor of Newark, and the whole of the Purchasers of the Demesne Lands, might not be held liable for the Expense attending the Repair of two Bridges within the Manor, called the Trent Bridge and Markham Bridge, that the Lot comprising the Manor, and also a Farm called Coutham Farm, containing about 250 Acres, should be likewise withdrawn from the Sale, as a Security to the Purchasers against such Repair, until an Act should be obtained for relieving them from any such Charge on account of the Lands and Premises they should purchase at the Sale; and having made those arrangements, the remainder of the Property, containing about 780 Acres, was put up for Sale by Auction, on the days above specified, in 204 Lots, and produced in all the Sum of £.90,250, on which a Deposit of 20 per cent. was paid down at the time of Sale, and Engagements were entered into by the Purchasers that the remainder of the Purchase Monies should be paid, and the Sales completed, on or before the 5th of April following, when the Duke of Newcastle's Interest in the Property expired.

In order to carry into effect the arrangements we had made for relieving the Purchasers from all liability to contribute towards the Repairs of the two Bridges in question, a Bill was submitted to Parliament early this Session for charging such Repairs on the Land Revenues of the Crown, which Bill having lately been passed, it is our intention, as we have not received any adequate offer, either from the Corporation or the Inhabitants, for the Lots adjoining the Castle, to take steps shortly for the disposal of the Manor and the other Property which was withdrawn from the Sale, with the exception of the Site of the Old Castle and the Bowling Green, which it is intended to retain in the hands of the Crown. The particulars of these last-mentioned Sales, and of the Prices obtained for each Lot, will appear in subsequent Reports, when the Conveyances shall be completed.

We have also, since the date of our last Report, made arrangements, with the sanction of the Board of Treasury, for the Sale by Auction, in Lots, in the course of the ensuing Autumn, of an Estate in the County of Southampton, called the East Part of Buckholt Wood, containing 641 A. 0 R. 22 P. of extra-parochial Land exonerated from Land Tax, now held under Lease from the Crown, by Charles Wall, Esq., for a term which will expire on the 10th of October next, at a Rent of £.241 per Annum. And we have likewise arranged for the Sale by Auction of a small Estate in the Parish of Twickenham, containing 5 A. 2 R. 2 P., now held by the Rev. William Nettleship, under a Lease from the Crown, which will also expire on the 10th of October next, at a Rent of £.19. 4. 6. per Annum.

ENFRANCHISEMENTS OF COPYHOLDS. Appendix, No. 5.

A DETAILED account is given in the APPENDIX, No. 5, of the Copyhold or Customary Estates held under the Crown which have been enfranchised by us during the same period, the Quit Rents payable for which amounted to 3*s.* 6*d.* per Annum, and the Purchase Money to £.384. 12. 6., besides the extinguishment of Claims, on the part of the Purchasers holding under the Manor of Lyndhurst, to two Loads of Fuel Wood annually from the New Forest, of the estimated Value of £.2 per Annum, the particulars of which are given in APPENDIX, No. 6, making, with what had been previously bought up and extinguished, as stated in our former Reports, 377 Loads, but still leaving Claims upon the Forest to the extent of 462 Loads annually.

FEE-FARM RENTS. Appendix, No. 7.

IN the SCHEDULE, No. 7, a List is given of the Fee-farm and other unimprovable Rents in England and Wales, belonging to the Crown, which have been sold by us during the period before referred to, amounting, after deducting Land Tax, to £.36. 13. 6½, the Purchase Money for which amounted to £.986. 0. 11. And also a List of Fee-farm Rents sold within the same period, belonging to William Henry White, amounting to £.3. 16. 5. (after deducting Land Tax), the Purchase Money for which amounted to £.107. 12. 7., which Sum has been applied in further discharge of his Debt to this Department.

GRANTS IN PERPETUITY. Appendix, No. 9.

THE APPENDIX, No. 9, gives the Particulars of two Grants in Perpetuity, one of a small Piece of Ground near the Town of Castletown, in the Isle of Man, as a Site for a National School, and the other of Five Acres of Land near the Town of Rhyll in the County of Flint, as a Site for a Church and Burial Ground, and for a Dwelling House, with Garden, &c. for the officiating Clergyman.

THE APPENDIX, No. 10, contains the Particulars of a Grant for a limited Term, at a nominal Rent, of a Piece of Ground on the East side of Swallow Street, being part of the Land Revenue of the Crown, in the Parish of Saint James, Westminster, as a Site for a Building, intended to be erected for the Offertory School in the said Parish. LIMITED GRANT of Site for Offertory School, in the Parish of St. James, Westminster. Appendix, No. 10.

IN the APPENDIX, No. 11, the Particulars are given of a Purchase, from W. S. Poyntz, Esq., of two Farms belonging to him, containing together 410A. 0R. 19P. for the Sum of £.5,808, including the Timber thereon. PURCHASES OF LAND, &c. Appendix, No. 11.

Those Lands were so much intermixed with the Lands of some extensive Farms belonging to the Crown, in the Parishes of Perching and Pangdean, in the County of Sussex, late in Lease to Mr. Poyntz, as to render it very desirable to obtain possession of them on the part of the Crown; and, accordingly, on the expiration at Michaelmas 1835 of the Lease held by Mr. Poyntz, a negotiation was entered into with him, with the sanction of the Treasury, for the purchase of the Property, when Mr. Poyntz finally agreed to accept the Sum of £.6,000 for the same being the Value set upon it by our Surveyor for that District, including the Timber thereon; from which Sum there was afterwards deducted £.192, in consideration of the Property being subject to the payment of a moiety of two Perpetual Rents charged thereon, amounting to the net Sum (after deducting Land Tax) of £.6. 8. per Annum, thus reducing the Purchase Money for the same to £.5,808. The same APPENDIX also contains the Particulars of certain other Purchases which have been made on behalf of the Crown, within the period of this Report, of Freehold and Leasehold Property for facilitating the effecting of Improvements on various other parts of the Crown Estates.

IN the APPENDIX, No. 12, is given a List of Acts affecting the Property of the Crown, which were passed in the course of last Year. ACTS affecting Crown Property. Appendix, No. 12.

THE APPENDIX, No. 13, contains the Particulars of a Lease granted under the authority of the Acts, 53 Geo. III. c. 121, and 2 Will. IV. c. 1. LEASE granted under Acts, 53 Geo. 3. c. 121, & 2 Will. 4. c. 1. Appendix, No. 13.

IN the APPENDIX, No. 14, are given the Particulars of a Lease granted under the authority of the Acts, 7 Geo. IV. c. 77, and 2 Will. IV. c. 1. LEASE granted under Acts, 7 Geo. 4, c. 77, & 2 W. 4. c. 1. Appendix, No. 14.

IRELAND.

THE APPENDIX, No. 15, contains a SCHEDULE of all perpetual unimprovable Rents payable to the Crown, in Ireland, which have been sold within the Year ended 5th January last, amounting to £.179. 7. 11½. (£.194. 6. 11½. late Irish Currency) per Annum. The Consideration Monies received for the same amounted to £.4,690. 2. SALES. Appendix, No. 15.

IN SCHEDULE, No. 16, are the Particulars of a Grant of the Crown's Interest in a Parcel of Waste Land in the Parish of Malrancan, in the County of Wexford, of no Value to the Crown, but of importance to the Grantee, who exercised rights of Common over it, and who proposed, with the consent of the other Commoners, to annex it to his adjacent Property. Appendix, No. 16.

Appendix, No. 17. THE ACCOUNT, No. 17, is an Abstract of the Accounts of the Collectors of the Rents payable to the Crown in Ireland, for the Year ended 5th January last.

THE Amounts received by us on account of the Land Revenues of the Crown in Ireland and Scotland, between the 5th January 1836 and 5th January 1837, are stated in our General Account of Receipt and Expenditure for the same period (APPENDIX, No. 22), in which the Sums received in respect of the ordinary accruing Rents or Income are distinguished from the extraordinary Receipt arising from Sales and Deposits on account of Sales.

Appendix, No. 22.

SCOTLAND.

IN the Statement of the nature and extent of the Land Revenues of the Crown in Scotland, contained in our Eleventh Report to the Legislature, dated 29th July 1834, page 6, it is observed, that we were not then in possession of an authentic Rental of the Lordship of Dunfermline. This deficiency has since been supplied by the proper Officers of the Exchequer, in Edinburgh. On examining the circumstances of this Lordship, it appeared that the last Lease thereof expired in March 1799; that application had been made to the Lords of the Treasury for a new Lease, but that such application had been refused; that the Yearly Rent of £. 100 reserved by that Lease had nevertheless been collected to March 1811; but that from that period, the whole Feu and Teind Duties, amounting together to not less than £. 20,000, had remained in arrear and uncollected. Having appointed Mr. James M'Farlane of Dunfermline, Chamberlain and Receiver of the Lordship, with instructions to proceed with the Collection of the Arrears of Feu Duties, which, exclusive of the Teinds, and limiting the claim to the Arrears accrued since 1811, extended to more than £. 9,000, he had made some progress in the execution of the service; but objections to the demands made for the Arrears of those Feu and Teind Duties having been taken on behalf of some of the parties who principally participated in the benefit of the expired Lease, and who seek to avail themselves of alleged errors and remissness on the part of the Officers in Scotland formerly concerned in the management of the Land Revenues, the Collection of this large and long-standing Arrear is interrupted until we can procure a judicial decision on the questions which have been raised in this case, which, as well in principle as in pecuniary value, are of considerable importance to the interests of the Crown.

HOLYHEAD ROADS.

Appendices, Nos. 18, 19 and 20. BY a reference to the APPENDICES, Nos. 18, 19 and 20, will be seen the Amount received and expended by us during the year ended 5th January last; that of the Sum of £. 44,000 advanced by the Commissioners for the Loan of Exchequer Bills to several Trusts on the Road between London and Shrewsbury, £. 41,673. 12. has been repaid, and £. 14,123. 11. 9. paid on account of Interest to the same period, at which time there remained due in respect of the said Loans the sum of £. 2,326. 8. on account of Principal, and £. 56. 14. 4. on account of Interest, making together £. 2,383. 2. 4., which is in course of Payment; and that of the Sum of £. 83,700 advanced out of the Consolidated Fund to several Trusts on the same Line of Road, £. 18,833. 0. 5¼. has been repaid, repaid, and £. 9,722. 14. 7¾. paid on account of Interest to the 5th January last, at which period there remained due, in respect of the said Loans, for Principal, the Sum of £. 64,866. 19. 6¾., and for Interest, the Sum of £. 15,502. 7. 9½., making together £. 80,369. 7. 4¼., in further reduction of which the Tolls heretofore applicable to the repayment of the Debt to the Exchequer Bill Loan Commissioners, will become available as soon as the before-mentioned Balance of £. 2,383. 2. 4. due to those Commissioners shall have been paid off.

THE General Statement of the Receipt and Expenditure of the Revenues under our management, and of the Monies imprested to us by authority of Votes of Parliament for the Repair and Maintenance of the Public Works and Buildings, and of the Roads, Bridges and Harbours in our care (Appendix, No. 22), contains, under the head "Extraordinary Expenditure," certain Payments, in discharge of Debts, pursuant to special Parliamentary Provisions, which have for many years been heavy charges upon the Land Revenues, but which are now nearly extinguished. Appendix, No. 22.

In further discharge of the Sum of £.400,000, borrowed from the "Commissioners for the Issue of Exchequer Bills for Public Works" towards defraying the Expenses of Improvements in the Metropolis, there was repaid during the last year £.162,500, making, with former repayments, £.303,750, leaving due at the close of the year £.96,250, the whole of which will be discharged in the course of the current year.

The remaining Instalment of £.120,000 upon a Loan of £.300,000 from the Equitable Assurance Company for the like purposes, will also be discharged within the same period, and having in our Eighth, Ninth and Tenth Reports, stated the repayments and final liquidation of £.250,000, which had been advanced at different times in aid of the Funds of the Department by the Commissioners for French Claims, the Land Revenues of the Crown will, during the last six years, have been relieved from Debts, bearing Interest, which amounted in the whole to £.950,000; and on reference to the Annual Accounts annexed to our different Reports during the same period of six years, it will be seen that there has been no diminution of the ordinary Income, the Rents and Profits of the Crown Property having increased in amount equal to those of the Estates or portions of Estates which have been sold towards providing the means of extinguishing the above-mentioned Debts.

In our last Report we stated, with reference to a Bill then depending in Parliament, the circumstances under which it was proposed to vest in the Trinity Board from and after the 5th of January last, all Right, Title and Interest of the Hereditary Revenue of the Crown in several Lighthouses now held under Leases from this Board, which will expire in 1849. That Bill having passed into a law during the last Session (Act 6 & 7 Will. IV. cap. 79), and calculations having been made of the Value of the Crown's Interest in the Lighthouses, which, to the Crown and Lessees together, had yielded an average yearly Income of £.19,425, of which the proportion receivable by the Crown under the existing Leases had been about £.10,300, the amount of both the existing and reversionary Interests was settled at £.300,000; and the said sum was by the before-mentioned Act taken, and deemed to be a repayment to the Consolidated Fund of part of the Sum of £.600,000, which had been advanced to the Land Revenue out of that Fund in further aid of the Expenses of the Improvements in the Metropolis, leaving still the like Sum of £.300,000 due to the Consolidated Fund from the Land Revenues of the Crown, if and when they shall cease to be applicable to that Fund.

The other Payments above adverted to, under the head "Extraordinary Payments," have been on account of Buckingham Palace.

It was stated in our Ninth Report, that for the purpose of completing that Palace as a Royal Residence, exclusive of Furniture and Decorations, a charge upon the Land Revenue of the Crown had been authorized by an Act of 2 Will. IV. cap. 3, amounting to £.78,500, in addition to £.496,000 to which the Expenditure for the like purposes out of the same Revenue, had been limited by an Act of 10 Geo. IV. cap. 50. By a further Act (3 & 4 Will. IV. cap. 81) an additional charge upon the Land Revenues was authorized, not exceeding £.55,000, for Furniture, Fixtures and Decorations, and the Building being now completed and furnished, the outstanding demands in respect thereof will not exceed the authorized Expenditure.
